ACTION CALL ON BRIDGE REPAIRS

Report by Katy-Rose Meaney

A RUGELEY councillor is calling for answers over the delays to repair a heritage trail bridge. The bridge, over Rising Brook, next to Western Springs Road, forms part of Cannock Chase District Council's Heritage Trail.

Gary Grant, who sits on Rugeley Town Council, says the bridge has been left in a state of disrepair for two years and has questioned the delays to the remedial work. The ongoing issue is due to be discussed at Rugeley and Brereton Community Forum next week.

Councillor Grant wants to know who is responsible for the maintenance of the bridge, which is partially collapsed, and when a permanent fix will be completed.

He said: "The bridge, which forms part of the Heritage Trail, has been in a state of disrepair for over two years.

"Various reasons were given for delays in progressing repairs, and temporary diversions have been put in place.

"When will permanent repairs be effected and who is ultimately responsible for the bridge and its maintenance?"

The bridge is believed to be the responsibility of the district council.

However, the responsibility for the hydraulic performance of the Rising Brook on the Chase side of Western Springs Road falls jointly with the land owners and county council. On the town centre side it is the responsibility of the Environment Agency.

Risk

Officers say the rebuilding work is being delayed as the Environment Agency carries out an investigation into the existing flood risk from Rising Brook.

In a report, the district council's head of economic development said: "This comprises a detailed representation of the channel and floodplain of the Rising Brook, as well as representation of the Severn Trent Water sewerage network within Rugeley.

"It is possible that the outcome of this investigation could change the profile of the brook and its hydraulic structures, such as weirs, in the vicinity of the bridge."

Rugeley and Brereton Community Forum will be held at Rugeley Town Council offices, Taylors Lane, at 7pm on Tuesday, September 9.

Fire crews move in at £1.7m new base

CREWS have moved in at the new Chase Terrace Community Fire Station.

The £1.7million facility has replaced the outdated base on Rugeley Road which was built in 1969.

The state-of-the-art base has been designed to enable firefighters to respond more efficiently and effectively to emergencies. Facilities within the building have also been created specifically with the community in mind with meeting space available for groups and organisations.

Station manager Tim Hollingworth said: "This is a really exciting milestone for the fire and rescue service and for the residents of Chase Terrace.

"The new modern station will allow us to provide the first class emergency response cover that our communities expect. It will also enable us to be a greater part of the community."

Chase Terrace Community Fire Station is the first facility to be operational in phase two of a major upgrade of buildings across the county. The first phase saw three additional stations developed and seven stations replaced between October 2009 and September 2011.

Bookings for the community rooms will be taken following post-completion works towards the end of the year.

Health body meeting date

THE governing body of Cannock Chase Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) hosts a public meeting today (Thursday).

Following the meeting, from 2-5pm at the Aquarius Ballroom, Victoria Street, Hednesford, the CCG hosts its AGM from 6.30pm.

To register an interest in attending, or for further information, email cannockccg.feedback@northstaffs.nhs.uk or call 01785 221050.

Children's ward now set to shut

HOSPITAL staff have been dealt a further blow with the news that Stafford's children's ward will close next March.

The news comes just days after staff heard the consultant-led maternity unit would shut in January – even though a Government review over the move has not even started.

The move has been slammed by campaigners and Jeremy Lefroy MP who say the transfer of services is being rushed through.

Part of the Shugborough Ward, which opened in 1983 and treated 3,126 children in 2013/14, will shut. It means youngsters will not be able to stay at the hospital overnight and would transfer to the University Hospital of North Staffordshire in Stoke.

Stafford will keep a paediatric assessment unit and services for day cases, but patients will travel to Stoke if they need longer term treatment.

UHNS said it was meeting with staff and would publish its plans for the transfer of services in September.

Campaigner Julian Porter said: "We are furious about the decision. How can something like this happen so fast?"

Pitmen left foxed by holes

FOXES have been causing havoc by digging holes on the pitch at Hednesford Town FC.

The ground at Keys Park has been targeted by the animals for more than a month.

Scott Smith, office worker and volunteer at the club, said he believed there were at least two foxes involved.

He said: "For us it's not good. We are having to refill the holes and we had some work done on the pitch over the summer.

"The first team uses the pitch and it's an extra workload to fill in the holes. Sometimes they dig out the same holes that we have filled in."

He said the club was now looking at preventative measures.

Mr Smith added: "We've been told of a box you can get that sends out a signal which dissuades them from coming in. We haven't looked into the costs yet."

Sport bar's fighting talk from ace Duran

BOXING legend Roberto Duran is set to appear at a Cannock sports bar in yet another knockout night for fight fans.

'Hands of Stone', a former four weight world champion will appear at Bar Sport, High Green, on Wednesday, September 17.

Joining him on the night will be former WBC Super Middleweight Champion Richie Woodhall.

Scott Murray, owner of Bar Sport and the Premier Suite said: "Roberto Duran is one of the greatest boxers of all time. It is an honour to have him here in Cannock and everyone is really looking forward to what should be another fantastic night."

It is yet another coup for the venue. Former five weight world boxing champion and Olympic gold medallist Sugar Ray Leonard appeared at Bar Sport and the Premier Suite in March.

And in September last year the venue welcomed former cruiserweight and heavyweight world champion Evander Holyfield.

Tickets are on sale, ranging in price from between £45 and £125 which includes a five-course meal and entertainment including a comedian.

Limited tickets are now available. Call The Premier Suite on 01543 572092 to book, or for more details.

Charge over road death

A WOMAN has been charged following the death of a 24-year-old man who was hit by a car on the A5 in Brownhills.

Jamey Coleman, of Springhill Road, Brownhills, was knocked down at about 3.20am on March 30.

Bethany Ward, aged 23, of Bentons Lane, Great Wyrley, is charged with failing to stop, failing to report a collision and driving without a licence and is to appear before Walsall magistrates on September 18.

Consultation extended by six weeks

A CONSULTATION on proposals to move health services from Wolverhampton's New Cross Hospital to Cannock has been extended.

The consultation will last for an extra six weeks and will now end on October 17.

South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson had previously said the process had left out his constituents.

Up to 30,000 patients will go to Cannock every year for non-emergency procedures and surgery in proposals that will see health chiefs from Wolverhampton run the Brunswick Road site. Bosses from both the Royal Wolverhampton NHS Trust and the Wolverhampton Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) will analyse feedback from the consultation once it ends.

Feedback

They will prepare a report to be made public at the end of October, outlining any issues with the plans. Dr Helen Hibbs, clinical accountable officer at Wolverhampton CCG, said: "We'd like as many people as possible to tell us what they think, which is why we've extended the deadline for people to give their feedback by six weeks."

Chief executive at New Cross, David Loughton, hopes that by moving all non-emergency surgery to Cannock, space will be freed up for the sharp increase in emergency cases at New Cross.

People should email wolccg@nhs.net or visit www.wolverhamptonccg.nhs.uk.

A consultation meeting takes place at Molineux on October 8 from 6-8pm.

Maternity closure to go ahead despite review

NHS chiefs say they will not stop the consultant-led maternity unit at Stafford Hospital closing before a review ordered by the Health Secretary takes place.

NHS England is due to start a review of maternity services at the site in November, which could last for months. But staff at Stafford Hospital have been told that the unit is due to close in January.

NHS England says it will 'respect the decision' of the University Hospital of North Staffordshire – which is taking over the running of Stafford – if it decides to shut the maternity unit.

Health Secretary Jeremy Hunt had earlier insisted that 'all options were open' for the maternity unit.

During a meeting with Stafford MP Jeremy Lefroy, he said the downgrade was 'not a done deal' and that bosses would look at the outcome of the review.

Campaigner Cheryl Porter said: "It doesn't give us much faith in the system.

Rushed

"This is supposed to be a two or three year process and it is being rushed through."

Graham Urwin, area director for NHS England in Shropshire and Staffordshire, said: "As requested by the Secretary of State, NHS England is to carry out a review of consultant-led obstetrics services at Stafford Hospital.

"The safety of services is essential and if, before the review is finished, the service needs to be changed on the grounds of safety, then that is a judgement that the provider trust board will have to make and NHS England will respect that decision.

"Should this occur the review would look at what would be needed for a safe, sustainable, consultant-led obstetric service to be re-instated at Stafford Hospital."

Hospital in bid to find more nurses

A RECRUITMENT event is to be held at Stafford Hospital as health chiefs attempt to tackle a shortage of nurses.

The event on Monday, September 15 from 10am to 3pm, follows the news that the hospital is facing a shortage of 85 full-time equivalent nurses and midwives.

Latest figures have also shown that 26 of the 117 consultant posts remain vacant and that the watchdog the Care Quality Commission found staffing levels are 'only just adequate' in some areas, particularly medical wards.

The Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust says 40 nurses applied for just four positions in May – and they are confident a similar number will turn up this time. They will not say how many posts are available.

Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust chief executive Maggie Oldham insists staffing levels are being monitored to ensure services are not affected.

Helen Inwood, deputy director of nursing, said: "These vacancies are fantastic opportunities for nurses to come and help us to integrate care across Stafford and Stoke."

Come and joins us plea by campers to health secretary

Protesters gather in the grounds of Stafford Hospital

CAMPAIGNERS who have set up a camp outside Stafford Hospital have invited Health Secretary Jeremy Hunt to meet them.

Protesters have been camped on the hospital grounds since June over the downgrading of the hospital which was deemed financially and clinically 'unsustainable'.

The number of campers at the Weston Road site has swelled since hospital staff were told that consultants would leave the maternity unit in January, meaning most expectant mothers will be transferred to the University Hospital of North Staffordshire, New Cross in Wolverhampton or Walsall Manor, to give birth.

Last week they held a protest march and a minute's applause in support of staff after news of the changes planned for the maternity unit was revealed.

More than 200 people joined the march from the campsite to the main entrance of the hospital.

Lee Middleton from Wildwood in Stafford, led the march. He said the protesters had invited Mr Hunt to visit the site and hear people's objections. The 35-year-old father-of-two said: "We would like him to visit us and explain why he is being ignored and why the review of the maternity ward is not going to happen until after the downgrade.

"We knew staff morale would be very low so we wanted to do something to show that we haven't given up fighting and will still do everything we can to stop the process."

Mr Middleton added: "Both my children were born at Stafford and were complicated pregnancies towards the end.

Distress

"They would have been classic examples of having to go to University Hospital of North Staffordshire and having seen the distress my wife was in, the last thing any pregnant woman needs is to be taken on a road journey to another hospital.

"We have spoken to staff and they are humbled by our support and appreciate our efforts. We will be here for as long as it takes to save our services."

Ironman in line to be annual attraction

THE Ironman contest in Staffordshire could become an annual event after places for the inaugural race were snapped up within minutes.

Council bosses hope the organisers of the popular triathlon will add the county to its regular list of locations.

All 1,600 places for Ironman 70.3 contest sold out in just 14 minutes.There are 2,500 places overall with the additional places going to those racing for charity and in relay teams. Entry for the team relay will open in October.

County Council cabinet member for children and community safety, Mike Lawrence, said: "We are thrilled this exciting event is coming to our county and that it is already had such huge interest from athletes.

"This event gives us a great opportunity to promote tourism and Staffordshire's growing reputation as a sporting destination.

"We will be working hard with all parties involved to welcome the athletes to our county and to make sure the race becomes an annual highlight."

Thousands of spectators and elite athletes will descend on the county for the event on June 14 next year.

Stephen listed for an award

INSPIRATIONAL teenager Stephen Sutton has been shortlisted for a national award.

The 19-year-old from Burntwood helped to raise millions of pounds for the Teenage Cancer Trust before his death earlier this year.

Stephen was nominated by the public for the lifetime achiever gong in the National Diversity Awards 2014.

Four other people have been shortlisted. The winners will be announced at the Hurlingham Club in London on September 26.

Seek treasure

YOUNGSTERS in Rugeley are urged to become 'Treasure Seekers'. Songs, prayer time, stories, activities and refreshments are served up at St Augustine's Church, Station Road, during term time on Tuesdays from 3.30-4.30pm. Sessions resume on September 16.

Golfer on course for the trip of a lifetime

A CANNOCK golfer has won the trip of a lifetime and will meet Ryder Cup player Paul McGinley.

Steve Williams was randomly selected from thousands of entrants to win TaylorMade and Quinta Do Lago's Best Fourball Ever joint promotion, scoring an all-expenses-paid package for him and three friends from October 5-12.

The trip includes a return private jet to Portugal, a private, luxury villa for seven days, a personal consultation with Irish ace McGinley, a full set of personally customised clubs each, unlimited rounds at Quinta Do Lago's recently refurbished Championship North Course and four VIP Hospitality tickets to the Portugal Masters.

Steve, a member of Lichfield Golf & Country Club, was also given a complimentary round at The Belfry to spring the news on his selected guests, namely his brother Dave Williams and friends Bob Kilgallon and Neil Ayres.

Steve said: "It is an absolutely unbelievable opportunity.

"I really can't even fathom that I have actually won. We're going to make the most of it that is certain."

Remembering the Great War

LIBRARIES commemorate the First World War for Local History Month. On September 10 from 2-3pm in Cannock Helen Johnson talks on 'How the Great War Changed the Lives of People Living and Working at Shugborough'.

'Trench Art: Exploring works of art from battlefield debris' – a talk by James Gordon-Cumming takes place from 7-9pm the same day in Norton Canes.

Both events cost £3, or £2 for members. Places are limited and must be booked on either 01543 510365 or 01543 279592.

THE CHASE & District Ramblers head off on a moderate nine-mile walk at Martley, Worcestershire, this weekend. Departure time on Sunday (September 7) is 9am from Hednesford rail station car park, Anglesey Street. Walk leader is Gary on 07973 525533.

Fuel theft gang members sent to prison

A GANG of thieves stole thousands of pounds worth of fuel from scores of garages across the Black Country and Staffordshire – including in Cannock and Rugeley.

They filled up cars and large containers in the back of the vehicles before driving off without paying, Wolverhampton Crown Court was told.

When the racket was smashed two of the culprits launched a carbon copy operation while on bail waiting for the case to be dealt with, said Mr Robert Price, prosecuting.

In all the gang struck 68 times and were involved in the theft of 3,723 litres of fuel worth £5,856. They used three cars, a Mondeo, Skoda and Fiesta – which all carried number plates with the same stolen registration number – and were usually three-strong with one driving, another filling up and the third keeping an eye on the canisters and containers in the back.

The first crimewave involved 44 offences during part of November and December last year. CCTV regularly showed 45-year-old Ian Moorhouse – the 'prime mover' according to Mr Price – at the wheel.Wayne Taundry, aged 26, was also identified on four of the thefts before being caught red-handed at a BP garage in West Bromwich on December 14.

Both banned drivers, Moorhouse and Taundry were released on bail and promptly started stealing more fuel at a further 22 garages between April 11 and May 3.

Officers swooped on an address being used by Taundry in Bloxwich on May 7. Moorhouse was detained nine days later. He was heavily addicted to heroin which he could not afford and admitted arranging to pay his dealer in fuel for the drugs, said Mr Price. Mr Gurdeep Garcha, defending both men: "This was not a premier league gang. It was unsophisticated offending."

Moorhouse from Bridgewater Close, Brownhills, who had convictions for 31 previous offences and Taundry from Hollands Road, Blakenall, Walsall both admitted two offences of conspiracy to steal fuel and driving while disqualified. The former was jailed for 18 months while the latter was sent to prison for a year. Each was also banned from driving for three years.

Surprise guests make wedding day a Thriller

By Andrew Turton

BRITAIN'S Got Talent finalists Signature brought cheers and screams from delighted wedding guests as they created a first dance to remember for a happy couple.

Newlyweds Neil and Jody Bannister wanted a Michael Jackson number for their first dance – and conceived a show-stopping performance as a surprise for their guests. Signature – famed for their fusion of Jackson hits and Bhangra – joined the couple on the dance floor to stun guests at their reception at Rodbaston Hall, Penkridge.

Suleman Mirza, who created the dance act with his moonwalking moves, shot to fame with friend and Bhangra dancer Madhu Singh when they finished runners up on the television talent show in 2008. Mr and Mrs Bannister, aged 41 and 32 respectively, both deliver post for Royal Mail from its Cannock sorting office.

The bride and groom took to the dancefloor for their first dance as husband and wife to Michael Jackson's The Lady in My Life. Just moments into the romantic routine, the music stopped as the couple and their DJ played along with the ruse of a spill on the dance floor.

Stormed

They called on the cleaner, Madhu Singh, replicating their television performance, to burst in and sweep up – and start a dance extravaganza.

Suleman, dressed in the classic MJ red and black outfit from the Thriller video, then stormed onto the floor. The pair brought the house down with hit after hit including Thriller, Billie Jean, Smooth Criminal and Black Or White.

After their routine, Suleman said: "These occasions are always so special and it is great to be able to share it."

The newlyweds, who live in Teddesley Way, Huntington, were together for six years before Neil popped the question while on holiday in Fuerteventura in May.

"We wanted something unique and something to surprise everyone and it makes it memorable too," said Mrs Bannister.

Her husband added: "We have had a fantastic day."

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

"A WELL regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed." That, with all its curiously-placed commas, is the cherished Second Amendment to the United States Constitution, adopted in 1791. It's the one which has allowed the US to become flooded with between 270 million and 320 million guns (no-one knows for sure) and given it about 32,000 gun deaths every year. You may think it is stretching the Second Amendment just a tad to offer sub-machine gun lessons to a little girl of nine but, hey, it's the Land of the Free. Sadly, the little girl lost control of the Uzi machine-pistol after the first round and shot her instructor, 39-year-old Charles Vacca, dead.

THE gun lobby's usual response to such tragedies is to stress the importance of proper instruction. One emailer in a US chatroom beat them to it with this parody: "This would never have happened if proper semi-automatic rifle use was instituted in kindergarten or pre-school at the latest." Contrary to popular belief, some Americans do irony very well.

WE are assured that no senior police officers involved in the Rotherham child-abuse scandal are still working for South Yorkshire Police. Well, so what? Justice doesn't suddenly stop when someone changes job or retires. If celebrities can be pursued into their 70s and 80s for indecent assault, there should be no limitation on investigating any adult whose reaction to the industrial-scale rape of children was to look the other way.

THINGS to do on a wet bank holiday. We watched the late, great Lauren Bacall in North West Frontier, the 1959 yarn set in British India and co-starring Kenneth More. Have you noticed something about these pukka, stiff upper-lipped epics of Britain and the Raj? You can't watch them without expecting Terry Scott to march into shot with a platoon of The Third Foot and Mouth Regiment or hear Sir Sidney Ruff-Diamond (Sid James) doing his dirty laugh. Carry On Up the Khyber (1968) has a lot to answer for.

THIS is the time of year when teachers, eager for the challenge of another school year, gleefully tick off the days to that first bracing day of the new term. Or so you might imagine from the list of "Ten Ways to Galvanise a Classroom" printed in one of the education supplements. I particularly enjoyed this one: "Dip a squash ball in liquid nitrogen and throw it past your students at a wall. The crackle of the frozen ball is an unforgettable lesson in how cold matter can get." It's also a good way of getting yourself suspended on full pay.

ALEX Salmond talks of raising a Scottish Defence Force as an independent Scotland's contribution to Nato. But who would want to serve in it? What sort of career could anyone hope for in the tiny armed forces that go with a country of just five million citizens? What bright young pilot would choose to join the Scottish Air Force (two Tiger Moths and a blimp) when the RAF, just across the border, is bristling with 21st century hardware? Meanwhile, independence would certainly make England much easier to defend from an invasion. At a stroke we would lose 6,000 miles of Scottish coastline, with all its potential landing beaches. The UK's new northern border would be less than 100 miles long and comes fully equipped with border posts and forts, admittedly in need of some modernisation. What have the Romans ever done for us? They gave us Hadrian's Wall.

ACCORDING to scientists in Tennessee, life on earth could be wiped out by a giant asteroid hitting the planet on March 16, 2880. I'm sure that's the day we've got the plumber coming.

Child obesity higher than average

THE number of obese and overweight children in Staffordshire is above the national average, according to a new report.

The worst area for childhood obesity in the county is Cannock Chase where the number of children aged four to five who are classed as overweight or obese is around 27.2 per cent.

For youngsters aged 10 to 11 the figure is 36.4 per cent. The average in England for reception age children, four-to-five is 22.2 per cent and for Year Six children, 10-to-11-year-olds, it is 34 per cent.

Council bosses say tackling childhood weight issues is one of their top priorities.

Health and wellbeing profiles for each area have been compiled by Staffordshire Observatory which forms part of Staffordshire County Council. In South Staffordshire the proportion of overweight and obese children is 26.4 per cent. For children aged 10 to 11 the number is 35 per cent.

Deprived

Nationally, the number of children who are obese alone is 18.9 per cent, according to the latest figures.

Obesity in the most deprived parts of England is almost double that of the least deprived.

The UK has the highest rate of child obesity in Western Europe, which is estimated to cost the NHS about £4.2billion every year.

Obese children are at an increased risk of developing various health problems and are also more likely to become obese adults.

Petition to bring back 'lifeline' bus service

A CAMPAIGN has been launched to bring back a bus service described by residents as a 'local lifeline'.

The number 32 bus, a half-hourly service which travels between Cannock and Brownhills via Norton Canes, was withdrawn by operators Arriva.

Residents only discovered the route had been axed when signs were put up at bus stops saying they were no longer in use.

The Bring Back Our Bus campaign has been launched by Amanda Milling, who is standing as the prospective Conservative MP for Cannock Chase in next year's general election.

She said: "Arriva's decision is outrageous and shows contempt for the residents of western Norton Canes.

Dedicated

"Whilst I accept they may have had difficulties running a dedicated route to western Norton Canes, it is unacceptable to cut service completely.

"We need Arriva to take another look at this issue and find a solution which doesn't leave people stranded."

A petition has been launched and already more than 100 names in favour of bringing the service back have been added to it.

Dawn Hudson's 20-year-old daughter Lucy, who suffers from multiple sclerosis, relied on the service.

Mrs Hudson, who lives in Church Vale, Norton Canes, with Lucy, said: "Lucy has to travel into central Cannock most days so the number 32 bus really was a local lifeline.

"She now has to walk for over 20 minutes to Millennium Garden to catch a different bus.

"We only moved to Church Vale a few months back and one of the things we checked was that there was a bus stop nearby so Lucy could get around independently.

"Cutting off the number 32 without warning has been a real setback for her."

Arriva said not enough people were using the service meaning it was not financially sustainable.

In February 2011, Arriva the bus company was forced to withdraw a decision to scrap the service after a campaign was launched to bring it back.

Wheel-y great achievement

Mazie Harper aged five, from Hednesford, with her BMX trophy

A FIVE-year-old girl who took up BMX riding just eight months ago has picked up a trophy after taking part in a national competition.

Chadsmoor Infants School pupil Mazie Harper came seventh in the BMX British Championships, held in Kent, after qualifying through the regional heats.

The youngster, of Festival Mews, Hednesford, has been a member of BMX club Wrekin Riders, in Telford since January and takes part in races every other weekend. Her father Stuart Harper, aged 34, said: "She took part in races in Midlands and came fourth overall.

"There have been about nine races over the past seven months. It's a great achievement since she has only been riding for eight months.

"She was in the under 6s group and was given a trophy for coming seventh. There were about 1,100 riders taking part across all categories and nine in her group."

Mazie said: "It was good to get a trophy."

Experts to value items

COLLECTORS can have their artefacts valued at a special day in Rugeley. Experts from Lockdales Auctioneers will be at the Rose Theatre and Community Hall in Taylors Lane, on Monday, October 6.

They are offering free valuations on coins, banknotes and stamps. Antiques, watches and clocks, gold, silver and jewellery, medals and militaria can also be taken along.

Experts also hope to put a value on postcards, cigarette cards, scientific instruments, pre-1900s documents, books and maps, swords, bayonets and de-activated weapons and pre-1960 sports memorabilia. No appointment is needed.

Circular walk will remember Great War

WALKERS will stroll between two villages to commemorate the centenary of the First World War.

The Great Wyrley Walking for Health Group is organising the joint walk with colleagues from Cheslyn Hay as part of the South Staffordshire Walking Festival.

Walkers can register at 1.15pm on Saturday (September 6) before setting off at 1.30pm from Wyrley Wesley Methodist Church, Walsall Road.

South Staffs Council chairman Janet Johnson will start the circular walk, which will head to Cheslyn Hay War Memorial, visiting Salem Church and its Roll of Honour and taking in the local park where commemorative trees have been planted.

The walkers then head back to Great Wyrley, culminating with a short civil ceremony at the Memorial Gates, led by parish council chairman Kath Perry.

Following the two-hour walk, participants will return to the Wesley Church for refreshments and to view a display by Great Wyrley and Cheslyn Hay Historical Societies. The afternoon is free but donations can be made at Wesley Church for Help For Heroes.

Busy month at trust HQ

BOSSES at Staffordshire Wildlife Trust's Wolseley Centre near Rugeley the site has had its busiest August on record.

Warden Vicki Liu said the addition of a range of new attractions, including a sculpture trail and bird hide, had proved a hit.

More improvements are planned with members of a volunteer group due to carry out a series of footpath improvements on the 26-acre site throughout the autumn.

Improvements including a wheelchair-friendly picnic bench will also be made at the centre's bird hide.

Flower demo

CHESLYN Hay & Great Wyrley Flower Club presents a demonstration by Pat Simcock tonight (Thursday). Titled 'The Wedding', it takes place at the Salem church hall, High Street, Cheslyn Hay, from 7.30pm. Entry is £6. Refreshments will be available.

Parish in send-off as Lynne calls time

A PARISH administrator has been given a rousing send-off after taking early retirement. Lynne Hames left Penkridge Parish Council after 11 years' service.

Councillors, colleagues, staff and others gathered for a surprise presentation to Mrs Hames. Council chairman Councillor Sandra Chambers made a presentation.

Councillor Chambers said: "Lynne has helped the council in many ways over the years.

"There have been many changes of councillors and staff – and there have been six chairmen during her time as parish administrator.

"There have been two elections during her time. She has met all the challenges that have faced her."

"The users of Haling Dene Centre have expressed their appreciation. She is very well organised and has done her best to help everyone who has worked with her."

Mrs Hames' role has included working as parish clerk, as finance officer and manager of Haling Dene Centre, in Cannock Road.

Death ruling on ex-miner

A FORMER miner died from the effects of industrial disease, an inquest heard.

Thomas George Maybury, aged 81, died at home in John Street, Chadsmoor, on July 19 after suffering breathing problems.

The inquest heard the grandfather worked for 20 years in mines. A post mortem report said his lungs showed signs of being affected by coal dust. He died as a result of chronic bronchitis and emphysema.

Coroner Mr Andrew Haigh recorded a verdict of death due to industrial disease.

Getting batty

RANGERS will show people around Cannock Chase so they can learn about bats this weekend. Meet at Coppice Hill Car Park, off Chase Road, from 8pm on Saturday, September 6. Call 01543 871773 for details. Adults cost £2.50 but children go free.

Save a life for 50p, urges company boss

Andy, front, with fellow helpers in Africa

A CANNOCK company director is urging people to help save a life – for less than 50p a day.

Andy Evans, managing director of Bridgtown couriers EDS, is back from his seventh visit to some of the poorest communities in Africa and has a simple message: "If you want to help do it, it absolutely costs less than you think.

"You really can save a life for less than 50p a day."

Andy's latest 10-day journey took him to Mozambique, Zimbabwe and Swaziland. He is now appealing for supporters to pledge £15 a month – less than 50p a day – to help save the lives of African children blighted by poverty, malnutrition or Aids and HIV.

Since he began volunteering with St Andrew's Church, Great Wyrley for The Link for Life Project, in 2009, Andy has worked tirelessly to raise awareness and funds for children, many of whom have been orphaned by Aids and HIV.

On the first of two recent visits, Andy joined other business leaders, from the UK, Australia and America, on a fact-finding mission to see what help is needed in more remote villages.

He says: "These communities are in dire need. Children are so hungry they are eating mud. We can help stop them eating dirt and save their lives.

"What they need is money. I stayed with a family in desperate need of help. Money earmarked for other projects had to be diverted to feed the children. It was tough."

New school planned to meet demand for places

A NEW primary school could be built in Rugeley to meet rising demand for places as part of £20 million of investment across Staffordshire.

Council bosses say they need to increase the number of places available for pupils in the town amid plans for new homes and rising birth rates.

Money has been earmarked for the project, although a site has not been found.

The authority is spending £20 million to boost school places, with new schools already earmarked for Stafford and Lichfield.

Some 500 new homes are due to be built in Rugeley in the coming years as part of council plans to create 6,000 across the county.

Among the proposals are 219 homes on the former Rugeley Power Station site in Armitage Road and 19 homes on land next to the Red Lion pub in Main Road.

The plans for a new primary school in Rugeley have been included in Staffordshire County Council's latest budget report.

Options

Council bosses say building a school in Rugeley is one of their options available to increase school places.

The county council's education chief Councillor Ben Adams said: "Nationally we are seeing an increase in the demand for primary school places and in Staffordshire we are well placed to meet these rising demands.

"Over the next few years the county is investing £20 million to ensure there are enough school places to accommodate pupils in quality facilities that will help provide children with the best possible education.

"We are exploring a number of options to meet the rising demand for primary school places in Rugeley."

Saddling up for an epic fundraiser

A CANNOCK man gets on his bike this weekend – for an epic 969-mile fundraiser.

Aaron Shinwell leaves on Saturday for the ride from Land's End to John O'Groats. He will be riding in tandem with Lloyds banking group colleague John Thompson from Gloucestershire. They are among more than 20 bank workers from across the UK taking part in the nine-day trek.

Collectively, they aim to raise more than £95,000 for their chosen charities of the year – Alzheimer's Society and Alzheimer Scotland.

Aaron, aged 34, said: "I hope my contribution will make a positive difference to people's lives in many ways."

Graham Lindsay, director of responsible business and community affairs at Lloyds Banking Group, said: "I'd like to wish John, Aaron and the rest of the Ride Across Britain team the best of luck."

To sponsor Aaron and John visit http://www.justgiving.com/John-Thompson-Aaron-Shinwell or text JTAS99 with your donation in pounds to 70070.

Just swingin' in the rain at Go Ape!

Staff members recreate the classic Gene Kelly in scene from Singin' in the Rain. Courtesy Go Ape! Cannock

GO Ape! staff on Cannock Chase were swinging in the rain when they recreated an iconic movie image.

The team at the outdoor activity centre cleverly recreated the classic Gene Kelly scene from the timeless musical Singin' in the Rain during the Bank Holiday downpours.

The scene on the ground was created by multi-activity instructor James Scott in less than half an hour on Monday.

He said: "It was quite quiet on the Monday because of the bad weather so I decided to create the scene. I used wood chippings to make the lamppost and shrubs for the frame.

"It only took me about half-an-hour to do it."

Two members of staff – Aimee Peters and Peter Allen – donned their waterproofs and braved the rain to pose for the picture.

Mr Scott then positioned himself on an aerial walkway to take the snap on his iPhone.

The Bank Holiday Monday proved a washout across the country with more than one-and-a-half inches of rain falling in the space of 24 hours.

Go Ape, which is located at the Birches Valley Forest Centre in Rugeley, features tree-top high wires, crossings and zip wires.

Singin' in the Rain was a 1952 American musical comedy film directed by Gene Kelly and Stanley Donen. Kelly starred in the film alongside Debbie Reynolds.

IN MY VIEW

with Mark Andrews

PLANS for compulsory sex education for children aged seven have received celebrity endorsement, with a former weather forecast presenter explaining how, in her native Sweden, children were taught about relationships 'framed with love and affection'.

Writing in her newspaper column, she said, if replicated in this country, such lessons could play a huge role in reducing youthful promiscuity, family break-ups and unplanned pregnancies.

By the way, the sleb in question is Ulrikka Jonsson. You know the one they call 4x4 because she had four children by four different fathers, and had an affair with that most unlikely lothario Sven-Goran Eriksson.

Well, as we say in the Black Country: "Yo've gorra loff, ay yer?"

❐❐❐

SIX years after it was ruled out for the stupid idea that it was, the idea of congestion charging in towns and city centres across the West Midlands could be back on the agenda again.

Birmingham Council is leading an inquiry on behalf of the seven authorities of the West Midlands, including Wolverhampton, Sandwell, Dudley and Walsall.

First and foremost, many will argue why one local authority should have the right to dictate to another what its transport policy should be.

The needs of a buzzing metropolis such as Birmingham is surely a world away from the requirements of places such as Dudley or Wolverhampton which are already struggling to compete with the like of Merry Hill and, yes, Birmingham.

And anyway, if the Brummies want to shoot themselves in the foot, why should the far more discerning natives of the Black Country be forced to join in their suicide pact?

Either way, as with all plans aimed at discouraging motorists from driving into town – including car parking charges, pedestrianisation, or bus and cycle lanes – it will inevitably have one of two possible outcomes.

On the one hand, it might turn thousands of sceptical motorists into a bunch of tree-hugging, tofu-eating environmentalists who will all embrace the change and will do their bit for the environment by jumping on their bikes and turning up to work dripping with sweat and dressed in synthetic yellow shorts.

Or, on the other hand, it might make them very angry and persuade them to take their custom, or their employment, elsewhere.

Now which, if you were the betting type, which would you soonest place your money on?

Shining light on our industrial heartland

DANIEL WAINWRIGHT tells how the Black Country Echoes Festival celebrates our manufacturing heritage

BLACK by day, red by night, the land of 'perpetual twilight' – this is our home, the Black Country.

Exhibitions, events, open days and more are shining the light on this industrial heartland that has given the world so much through its toil.

Following the success of the Black Country Festival, there will be 27 exhibitions and 87 events in more than 25 venues from now until January, with the majority taking place throughout September.

The Black Country Echoes Festival will celebrate the manufacturing heritage of the Black Country from the 20th century to the present day with a particular focus on the period since the Second World War.

Iconic

A region that is still home to the highest density of manufacturing in the UK, the Black Country has been responsible for the production of some of the world's most ubiquitous products, from Chubb locks and Phoenix glassware, to the Queen's handbags.

One company, Chances Bros produced all the world's light house lenses and fog horns, then changed their manufacturing from glass to wartime production of TNT and cyanide and back to glass producing handkerchief vases in the 1950s.

The Black Country produced, and still produces parts for vehicles all over the world from tanks to factory machinery.

The festival will feature some of the region's iconic vehicles, from the rare Swallow Doretti made in Walsall and the fun Frisky from Dudley, to the Villiers motorbikes from Wolverhampton and the fire engines from Simon Engineering in Dudley.

History of manfuacturing – showing Josiah Parkes Factory

Exploring how this industrial heritage has shaped the architecture, social, cultural and economic landscape to create the distinctive character of the Black Country, the festival will bring to life the globally important area and its communities.

A programme of arts and photography exhibitions, heritage days, tours and canal boat trips, film screenings, live music, vintage events and classic car weekends are showing what it has given the world and what it still has to offer.

Produced by WAVE, the galleries, museums and archives service in Wolverhampton, the Black Country Echoes Festival has an official launch on September 19. It will bring together more than 25 venues around the region, taking in Wolverhampton, Walsall, Sandwell and Dudley.

It will look at how the Black Country inspired the Lord of the Rings creator JRR Tolkien in his imagining of Mordor, the dark land controlled by the evil Sauron, due to his abhorrence of industry.

The exhibition The Making of Mordor, will explore links between the Black Country's industrial landscape and Tolkien's fantasy fiction at Wolverhampton Art Gallery.

It will explore the artistic responses, from the early 1900s to present day, to the industrialisation of the Black Country and surrounding region, examining in particular the struggle for dominance between nature and industry.

In 1862, Elihu Burritt, the American Consul to Birmingham, described the region as "black by day and red by night".

And in his 1851 book Rides on Railways, Samuel Sidney, wrote: "In this Black Country... a perpetual twilight reigns during the day, and during the night fires on all sides light up the dark landscape with a fiery glow.

Cinders

"The pleasant green of pastures is almost unknown, the streams, in which no fishes swim, are black and unwholesome; the natural dead flat is often broken by huge hills of cinders and spoil from the mines; the few trees are stunted and blasted; no birds are to be seen, except a few smoky sparrows; and for miles on miles a black waste spreads around, where furnaces continually smoke, steam-engines thud and hiss, and long chains clank, while blind ginhorses walk their doleful round."

Wolverhampton's Light House will present large-scale projections of the region's rich photography archive, including rarely seen work by Nick Hedges, John Bulmer, Peter Donnelly and water colour artist Arthur Lockwood, as well as the Jubilee Arts Archive.

Mr Bulmer was a photojournalist in 1961 when, aged 23, he was sent to the Black Country to document the Sixties in the north and outside of London for Town Magazine. He captured iconic images in streets in Tipton and Bilston.

WEEK IN POLITICS

with Daniel Wainwright

ED Balls is something of a survivor. For years critics within his own party have been wanting him off the front bench, believing him to be a liability when it comes to Labour trying to get back into office.

The Tories enjoy painting the Shadow Chancellor as one of the men who crashed the car when Britain fell into recession. There was recently an unfortunate actual minor collision between his car and a parked one, after which he failed to stop and got fined £900, but that's not what they're on about.

Mr Balls' critics think he reeks of the failings of the past that saw Gordon Brown eventually turfed out of Number 10. Yet he seemed quite content out knocking doors in Hednesford as Labour mounts its assault on Cannock Chase – one of the key seats it has to win to have any hope of a majority next year.

He's wound up some within his party for ruling out the idea of tax rises to help fund the NHS. And he's dangled the prospect of Labour looking for some sort of exit from HS2 if the estimated costs increase again.

He's also prepared to admit his party's failings on immigration and acknowledges the need to tighten up on free movement within the European Union, particularly the ability to work in Britain then send tax credits to family in another country.

Reassurance

This sort of talk, which should appeal to the centre ground and to those who are not natural Labour voters, does not sound like someone who is considered by some to be some sort of electoral Jonah aboard the party ship.

UKIP is taking votes off Labour as well as the Tories so Labour needs to be able to offer some reassurance that with Mr Balls in Number 11 and Ed Miliband in Number 10 there won't be a sudden tax raid on the 'squeezed middle'.

Ed Balls' line of attack has been knocked back a lot by figures that show the economy is growing again. He is now positioning himself as asking the question 'whose recovery is it anyway' by flagging up wages and the cost of living.

Whether voters are prepared to accept a key Brown ally at the Treasury again next year remains to be seen. But he's at least acknowledged that Labour can't win as a party of tax and spend.

Still on the subject of Ed Balls' visit to Staffordshire, his door knocking resulted in some very pleasant exchanges with some devoted Labour supporters.

Encouraging as I'm sure it was for the Shadow Chancellor, I couldn't help but think he might have done better to talk to a few people who voted Tory in 2010. Cannock Chase produced the biggest swing in the country to the Conservatives. They might have explained what it was they disliked so much about Labour.

HS2 cost must come down says MP Balls

SHADOW Chancellor Ed Balls rejected the prospect of a deal between Labour and Ukip, even if the party fails to secure a majority.

And, during a whistle-stop tour of Hednesford last week, Mr Balls insisted that the £50 billion price tag for the controversial high speed rail line HS2 must come down, hinting his support could be withdrawn if the costs rose by another £2 billion.

He threw out the idea of offering a referendum on Europe in exchange for backing from any Ukip MPs who may win seats next year. Mr Balls said Ukip leader Nigel Farage's offer of support to a minority Labour government next year was a non-starter.

He said: "What they offer is not policies that will help people around here. When it comes to Europe, people don't think the status quo is working.

"They want change and reform. We guarantee we will have an in out referendum if there's any proposal to transfer power to Brussels."

Ed Balls with candidate Janos Toth

Support

On the high-speed rail link, Mr Balls said: "We support HS2 but it means the costs have to come down.

"If they've gone up £8bn already, I'm not going to say another £2bn is fine. I want to see them come down again."

The Shadow Chancellor was looking to connect with voters in the crucial Cannock Chase constituency, where Labour saw its heaviest loss in 2010 and the biggest swing to the Tories.

After knocking on doors with parliamentary candidate Janos Toth, Mr Balls told 50-year-old supermarket worker Janet Mullens, a mother-of-two from Anglesey Street, that her grandchildren would get more free childcare under Labour. In Essex Drive, 77-year-old Ann Hopwood told the Shadow Chancellor: "A lot of things have gone up terribly. The electricity and the gas bills in particular."

Mr Balls was quick to point out the free TV licences for the over-75s introduced by Gordon Brown.

A chat with window cleaner Graham Hall followed in Radnor Rise before Mr Balls and his entourage headed off to the Station Cafe. There, Mr Balls chatted to owner Deborah Smith before a key issue cropped up, the controversial downgrade, at Stafford and Cannock hospitals.

"Everybody in Cannock knows the NHS is hugely important and has to stay free," said Mr Balls. "We will do what it takes to protect and secure the NHS in the future."

Input needed on proposals for libraries

YOUR library needs you to take part in the consultation, especially if like Great Wyrley the suggestion is for a community based library.

Sounds great, but if this goes ahead, we lose professional staff and are dependent on volunteers, who do a great job but it won't be the same.

We pay the same Council Tax as places like Wombourne and Codsall, who have smaller populations than Great Wyrley, but they are keeping their professional libraries.

This decision doesn't just affect now, but future generations. Regardless of all the 'e' gadgets about, you cannot replicate the magic of books.

We should be promoting not closing our traditional libraries, that's why your input is needed.

Let your MP, county, district and parish council know your views. Details can be found atStaffordshire County Council.

By-election could have impact on Chase

BY now I'm certain that all those with an interest in politics are aware of Douglas Carswell, Conservative MP for Clacton-on-sea defecting from the Tories to the UK Independence Party.

The subsequent by-election is particularly important in that this may result in Ukip gaining its first seat in the House of Commons.

If this by-election goes in the way of Ukip, an important question resides over British politics: Will this inspire more disillusioned MPs in other constituencies to defect? In particular, will these defections have a significant impact here? It's well-accepted that the Tories' hold over Cannock Chase is shaky at best, and will continue to weaken in the build up to the 2015 General Election.

Considering the predicament the Conservative Party suffers in this constituency, I personally believe that if the Clacton by-election results in Ukip and Labour gaining and the Tories losing ground, then at least some defections from the Tories to Ukip will be imminent. If not, I fear that there may be a worse outcome from this.

The Conservative Party in this area may slowly but surely descend into little more than a bickering rabble, eventually causing divisions and ultimately, a power vacuum. The fallout from such a vacuum would be catastrophic for the region.

Protesters should be supported

I OBSERVE with some interest the protest movement growing within the grounds of Stafford Hospital.

These people should be supported by everyone concerned with their effort to safeguard the services for the local community.

However, I am worried that after all their hard work and dedication the powers-that-be will not give them a second thought and will carry on with whatever policy suits them.

The only way to impress upon these people is, I believe, to take the fight to them. Everyone must band together including local coach companies, take as many organised people as possible down to London, and march in a peaceful demonstration to the Houses of Parliament.

They won't like it, and it may not work, but it will give them and the rest of the country something to think about.

Petition over bus service withdrawal

IN the area near Norton Canes Church and surrounding areas, the no. 32 bus has been discontinued, whereas the service was every half hour. Arriva has decided it was not practical to continue the service, regardless of the fact there is no other bus service to this area. Why can't the service be one an hour or more even, at least give us a service?

The nearest facilities are nearly one mile away and even further to the doctor's surgery. There are a lot of elderly people in the area who relied on the bus, to get to the village and elsewhere. It was their independence. It also allowed relatives who do not have transport, to visit the area.

If this affects you please go to Conservative parliamentary candidate Amanda Milling's online petition http://www.bringbackourbus.co.uk

Power station noise disturbed everyone

WHATEVER the Rugeley Power Station was doing at 2am on Tuesday, August 25 not only disturbed everyone's sleep but terrified the neighbourhood.

People have said to me that they thought it was a bomb or a terrorist attack. I feel very sorry for any old person on their own if they where shocked awake by this noise. I have heard this operation before but the noise on Tuesday morning was so intense anyone would have had to be dead or in a coma not to have heard it.

I am led to believe it was the power station clearing its chimneys. If this is the case then surely a warning should be given, and furthermore the operation should take place during daytime hours.

The authorities at the power station should be requested to give an explanation, and to issue warnings in future.

View plans for estates

IN reply to H Dewsbery's letter, 'Kept in dark over building on estates', Chronicle, August 21, we can confirm a meeting has been held with builder Keepmoat Homes and Spectrum Residents' Association which covers the Kingsway and Moss Road estates. As a result, residents of both estates are invited to see the plans for the estates' new building work, and ask questions, at Chadsmoor Methodist Church Hall, Cannock Road, on September 11 from 3-8pm.

Tom Dawson, Spectrum chairman

No safeguards, so rail users take advantage

I AGREE with W Smith's letter of August 28, re: too many people enjoy free rail travel. On a social networking site recently, someone local asked how much the train fair was to Birmingham. Another replied that you just buy a single, because you can always travel free on the return journey.

I was amazed that someone could not only think this way, but put it out publicly without being ashamed of themselves; it is, after all, theft. I messaged to that effect, and had several comments back that if nobody put safeguards in place, why not take advantage of the fact.

I think this is something that the rail company should take note of.

Crafty couple's cuppa for good causes

FAMILY and friends of a Cheslyn Hay couple were sipping a cuppa for good causes at a fundraising garden party with a difference.

Tony and Trudy Raybould hosted the event in support of the village scout group and Breast Cancer Research.

In addition to hot drinks and cakes they served up craft stalls featuring the talents of relatives and supporters.

Mr Raybould, an artist, organised the Crafty Cuppa day at the couple's home in Station Street. He donated original artwork as a raffle prize.

Last Friday's event (August 29) was open to all who know the family.

They set up the project after two close friends recovered from breast cancer and they wanted to show their support.

Window-smash thug jailed

A VANDAL who went on a window-smashing spree in Cannock has been jailed for 10 months.

Sven Hyden was already in trouble for hitting a man with an improvised snooker-ball cosh when he was filmed on CCTV using a hammer to smash shop windows on February 25.

He caused around £9,500 worth of damage to four premises, including the Sue Ryder charity shop in Stafford Road. Mr Graham Russell, prosecuting, said Hyden handed himself in at Cannock Police Station the same day, telling officers he was 'suicidal'.

Weapon

Hyden, aged 29, of Cannock Road, Heath Hayes, admitted four charges of criminal damage and to offences of assault causing actual bodily harm and possessing an offensive weapon. Recorder Andrew Baker QC told Hyden he regarded the window smashing as a 'cry for help'.

He told him: "You went on something of a significant vandalism spree, you ran up a repair bill in the order of £8,000. That's the sort of behaviour that can't go unmarked."

Mr Darron Whitehead, defending, said: "He deliberately went out to smash windows to draw attention to himself to be arrested."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Hot stuff as couple tackle crocodile dish

Dilshad floor manager Abdul Jabbar, Caroline and Wez Cartwright and head waiter Shabul Miah

A COUPLE have conquered the World's hottest curry which is being served up at a Cannock restaurant.

Wez and Caroline Cartwright went into training to conquer the Crocodile Inferno – a dish so hot the chef has to wear a gas mask while cooking it due to the overpowering chilli fumes.

It is twice as hot as police tear gas and is rated at around six million on the scoville scale for heat.

The couple ate curries made with increasingly hot chillies for several weeks before travelling from their home in Swadlincote, Derbyshire, to the Dilshad, in Cannock Road, Chadsmoor. And despite a fierce wrestle with the Crocodile Inferno – both started hallucinating at one point – they became the first people to finish the dish.

Training

Teacher Caroline, aged 31, said: "It was the hottest curry I had ever tried and I went through so much pain eating it. It was an experience I wouldn't want to repeat.

"I was hallucinating at one stage. But we had both been in training and this certainly made the difference."

Wez, 34, who works for JCB, added: "There were moments when we were very close to throwing in the towel. The incredible burning sensation intensified with each mouthful but we wanted to be the first to complete the challenge and we did."

Caroline and Wez's prize was a certificate and a T-Shirt.

Dilshad owner Tony Uddin said: "Caroline and Wez will go into our Dilshad hall of fame. We never thought anyone would finish the dish but this couple were just phenomenal."

To try the Crocodile Inferno, or book a table, call 01543 570264.

Hair we go to aid tumour victim

Elle Antell from Cannock who is offering hair extensions to raise cash for man with brain tumours

A HAIR extension technician is raising money to help a man suffering from two brain tumours after he told his story on ITV's This Morning.

The treatment for 21-year-old Reece Hawley from Essex costs £2,000 a time as it is not available on the NHS. Elle Antell, who runs a home salon called Cinderelle Xtensions, in Lichfield Road, Cannock, has decided to raise money for Mr Hawley by holding a raffle.

She said: "I've never met him but he's only young and his story really touched my heart."

Tickets cost £1 or £5 and will be on sale until September 30. Call 07866 130130 for more information.

Scaffolder is sentenced

A SCAFFOLDER from Cannock has been handed a suspended jail term after a construction worker fractured his skull.

Mark Jones, aged 27, of Darlaston, sustained the injury when a pulley wheel fell seven metres and struck his head on August 8, 2013, Birmingham Magistrates Court heard.

Mr Jones was installing lead flashing on a school roof using lifting equipment installed by Christopher Harvey, trading as Cannock Wood Scaffolding.

Mr Jones, who was working for a sub-contractor on the site, was operating a 'gin wheel', or metal pulley wheel, which is used to hoist and lower materials with ropes. Harvey had attached the wheel to the scaffold.

A Health and Safety Executive (HSE) investigation found that Harvey had failed to properly secure the gin wheel. Harvey, 40, of Wolverhampton Road, Cannock, pleaded guilty to breaching Health & Safety regulations and was sentenced to four months, suspended for a year and ordered to pay £2,500 compensation.

Mr Jones has made a full recovery.

HSE Inspector Edward Fryer said: "This incident was entirely preventable and could easily have been avoided.

"Mr Jones suffered a fracture to his skull, but it is nothing more than luck that he was not more seriously injured, or even killed."

Recruitment slashed by council to save costs

STAFFORDSHIRE County Council is slashing recruitment in a bid to save £1 million.

The authority says will only replace what it calls 'essential' staff for the coming year and has halted recruitment of jobs it classes as non-essential.

Bosses say they will aim to keep taking on workers needed for frontline services – and insist each job will be judged on its importance. Recruitment of temporary workers and consultants will also be cut, however.

The authority is battling to make £102 million of cuts over the next five years.

It has already sparked outrage for slashing its grants for elderly and vulnerable people, with hundreds losing out on emergency pendant alarms.

By Adam Burling

Drafted

Up to 34 youth clubs face closure unless other organisations take them over, while volunteers could be drafted in to run 24 of the county's 43 libraries.

A report by council leader Philip Atkins states: "To help manage pressures, there is to be a challenge across all council services around recruitment of staff.

"This will entail replacing only essential posts, and halting recruitment of non-essential staff. This also includes limitations on interim staff, consultants and all significant external spend."

It adds: "This is designed to achieve short term financial gains and will not affect the council's ability to deliver on its responsibilities.

"It is predicted that this challenge can make a saving of £1m in year."

The council has not said how many jobs are being lost this financial year as the cutbacks are still ongoing.

Councillor Atkins added: "Staffordshire people are living longer and leading more fulfilled lives, but this does mean we are experiencing significant extra demand for many of the services we provide."

Police dog day's over for youngster

Marc Dixon, of Armitage with police dog Brooke

A YOUNG boy was taken off by police for a day behind the scenes after winning a competition at the Staffordshire force's open day.

Marc Dixon, aged eight, of Armitage, won a day with police dogs and handlers, discovering how the animals are trained and how they make invaluable contributions to everyday police work. He was accompanied by his father Michael for the day at Weston Road headquarters.

Sergeant Rich Cope and Pcs Karen Bloor, Steve Cartlidge, John Maunders and Steve Smith looked after Marc for a day that including tracking exercises, agility sessions and drug and building search techniques with dogs Tizzy, Brooke, George and Nash.

Sgt Cope, who co-ordinated the day, said: "Marc was a worthy winner who showed a brilliant aptitude towards dog training. He was very enthusiastic and it was obvious he has a genuine fondness of dogs."

Marc said: "I've really enjoyed the day and could not have wished for a better one."

Viv's run idea could have legs

Lichfield Rotary Club

AT Club Assembly in May, assistant governor Viv Jones suggested Tamworth and Lichfield clubs organise a run from Tamworth Castle to Lichfield Cathedral.

The idea is based on the Two Castles Run between Warwick and Kenilworth organised by the latter's club each year. What started as a small event 32 years ago – with a modest 200 runners – has now blossomed into a major, attracting 4,000 competitors and generating income of £85,000.

Viv arranged for Philip Southwell of Kenilworth Rotary Club to give a presentation on the run to representatives of Tamworth, Tamworth Anker, Lichfield St Chad and Lichfield clubs. Phillip's talk was excellent and inspired the meeting to agree to investigate organising an event.

The Lichfield club believes it is a chance to get involved in what could be a major fundraising event as well as fostering relations between four clubs.

District Governor John Crawford gave an upbeat message about the future of Rotary and asked for support for his chosen charities, namely the Macmillan Trust and the Sand Dam projects.

Since his visit, Club Council has agreed that the President will take a cheque to the District Conference supporting both projects.

Ian James organised a ShelterBox collection on July 18 and 19 and thanks all members who helped collect a total of £651.43.

The club is also very grateful to Morrisons.

Memory lane talk on old corner shops

Speaker Margaret Smallman, left, with Soroptimist Lynne Tuckley

Cannock Soroptimists

'MEMORIES of a Corner Shop' was the title of Margaret Smallman's talk at SI Cannock & District's August meeting.

She was an accomplished and amusing speaker and many members could remember the things she spoke of; those who couldn't found it a fascinating insight into the social history of the 50s and 60s.

Margaret grew up in a corner shop in Wolverhampton, the shop sold almost everything – and she remembers her mother telling them all never to tell a customer they didn't have or sell any item, always to say that it wasn't in at the moment but they could get it.

It was a very happy evening, reminiscing about rationing, blocks of butter and cheese, liquorice and sherbert in a bag.

President Janis Lomas welcomed Lynne Tuckley back after a three-month break while she was waiting for her new home to be ready. Lynne lit the friendship candle and told members how pleased she was to be back living in Cannock among her friends.

Great Wyrley TG

THE August meeting was opened by chairman Bette Webb.

All the committee members dressed in costume similar to those worn 85 years ago when the guild was formed.

After the normal proceedings, refreshments were served and members enjoyed a slice of cake baked and iced to celebrate the 85th anniversary.

Speaker for the evening was MP Gavin Williamson, who gave an enlightening insight into his work and his role as Parliamentary Private Secretary to the Prime Minister. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, September 9 and the members will be entertained with and evening of flower arranging, poems and cheese.

Meetings are held at The Wesley Church from 7.30pm. New members and visitors are very welcome.

Gaskin talk starts new history group season

THE chairman of trustees of the Friends of Etching Hill will discuss plans for the hill next week.

Members are welcome at the church hall, Mount Road, from 7.30pm on Thursday, September 11. Attendance is free and refreshments will be provided.

❑❑❑

THE AGM of the Friends of the Museum of Cannock Chase takes place next week. It will be at the museum, in Valley Road, Hednesford, on Wednesday September 10 at 7.30pm and will be followed by cheese and wine refreshments.

Fees to join are £5 per person per year or £7.50 for a couple.

❑❑❑

A HEDNESFORD church hosts an Alpha course from next week. The informal sessions, which include a meal, start at Trinity Church, Station Road, from 7pm on Monday, September 8. Call Wendy on 07817 126380.

❑❑❑

THE first meeting of Norton Canes Historical Society's new term takes place next Tuesday, September 9.

Historian and author Tony Hunt will give a talk on the Gaskin murder, from 7-9pm at the library in Burntwood Road. Admission is free.

Fewer visit theatre – but sales 'still strong'

AUDIENCES at Cannock's Prince of Wales Centre have plummeted by 13 per cent in a year – despite tens of thousands of pounds being spent on refurbishment.

The number of people going to shows fell to 44,000 over the last 12 months from 51,000 the year before.

Bosses said they were expecting the drop. There were fewer events held in 2013/14, but record attendances in 2012/13 because of a number of dance school bookings.

This year's shows have included 2009 X Factor winner Joe McElderry and veteran comedian Ken Dodd.

Wigan Leisure & Culture Trust (WLCT), which runs the theatre and the district's leisure centres, insist sales remain 'strong'.

Council leader George Adamson said: "It has been explained to me that there are particular reasons for the drop and we are assured it is a one-off and that attendances will be back up again next year.

Tiered

"There are some events that are not held every year and I have been told that this can have an effect on the figures."

It comes as new LED lighting is installed at the Church Street venue, costing £16,000 to replace the outdated facilities, and a new £25,000 online booking system goes live. New tiered seating is also being installed.

A report to the council detailing the fall in numbers says the theatre is in use 78.5 per cent of the available time and was visited 12,000 times by children.

Meanwhile, WLCT also revealed that leisure centres across the district have seen a 25 per cent rise in visitor numbers following the purchase of new gym equipment.

Visitors to the Chase Leisure Centre have rocketed since it re-opened following a revamp, with 394,000 going through the doors – a 27 per cent increase.

Nursery children graduate

Senior manager Jemma Matthews and head of nursery Kelly Boden with Councillor Eddie Smith, Isabella Trueman, aged three and Lauren Brown, four YOUNGSTERS have celebrated graduating from a Cannock nursery.

Little ones at Happy Tots nursery, at Orbital Plaza, Bridgtown, were treated to a special graduation ceremony, marking the end of their nursery years before starting primary school.

The children wore the customary caps and gowns and received scrolls to mark the occasion, proudly watched by their family members and Bridgtown parish council chairman, Councillor Eddie Smith.

Kelly Boden, head of nursery, said: "It's always a time of mixed emotions, when the excitement of starting a new school mixes with sadness about leaving some of their younger friends and members of staff.

"The graduation ceremony is a nice way of celebrating their time at the nursery, for the children, the parents and the staff. "

Councillor Eddie Smith, Chairman of Bridgtown Parish Council said: '"It was a tremendous privilege to be able to attend the Happy Tots graduation."

The nursery has a spaces available. Visit www.happy-tots.com or call 01543 509089.

Dumped items prove a winner for charity

Charity shop manager Andrew Pedder and assistant manager Sean Notley among the items for sale

THE saying 'one man's junk is another man's treasure' rings true for one charity. It is selling on belongings that have been dumped at a tip.

Katharine House Hospice opened a charity shop at Poplars landfill site on Lichfield Road in Cannock last month and say they have been overwhelmed by the amount of good quality, re-usable items that are thrown away.

Bikes, toy guitars, furniture, antiques and even roller blades are among the treasures saved from the landfill and instead are sold on to raise money for the hospice. The initiative created five jobs and all staff on site have been trained to spot items that can be resold.

Goods start from as little as 50p, but no item has a set price – all are negotiable. Talks between the charity and FCC, the global waste recycling company that runs the site, started in April 2013 and the charity shop on site opened on August 1.

Angela Wheelan, new business manager for Katharine House Hospice said: "It is simply phenomenal what people will throw away but the beauty of this partnership is we can capture those items, help the environment and locals and everyone is a winner."

There are 14 FCC run sites across Staffordshire and saved items are all sent to the re-use shop at Cannock.

Business manager Andrew Pedder said: "It has been a success from the start. We didn't appreciate how big this would be or how successful.

"Most of the furniture is good enough quality to sell on but we do get some items that need a little attention."

The shop and tip are open from 9am to 6pm Wednesday to Friday and on Saturday and Sunday from 9am-5pm.

Riders on track for learning skills

A RIDING school is teaching youngsters crucial life skills as part of community safety work funded by Police & Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis.

Gartmore Riding School, in Hammerwich, has been handed a £2,810 grant from the People Power Fund.

The school, located in Hall Lane, works with young people with disabilities or from vulnerable backgrounds. As well as being taught how to ride, youngsters taking part in the People and Horse Power scheme learn tasks such as preparing tack and cleaning the stables with many returning to volunteer after their lessons finish.

Mr Ellis said: "By providing more money than ever before to spend on the ground, in local communities, we have seen new ideas to cut crime and anti-social behaviour, helping make local people safer and importantly, helping them feel safer.

"Schemes like this involve young people in positive activities and teach them vital skills which will help them later in life.

"It's a positive programme that goes beyond learning how to ride and helps young people become responsible citizens – which is crucial to keeping communities safe."

As part of his commitment to local communities, Mr Ellis is providing £500,000 in 2014/15 through the People Power Fund in the form of grants of between £100 and £3,000.

Tracy Francis, from Gartmore Riding School, said: "The young people have experienced some life learning skills – such as listening and being able to follow instructions, particularly when working as a team where they are required to care for a horse in the stable management activities and when riding in the equitation sessions."

The window for the next round of applications for the latest round People Power Funding is open now and runs until Sunday, September 14. Visit www.staffordshire-pcc.gov.uk/fund

NEW - Electronic Security Identification System for Small Hand and Power Tools

The loss of power tools is inconvenient for a DIY enthusiast but for a professional tradesman it could cost thousands in delays and lost business. And with power tools easy to transport and dispose of, thieves are targeting them ever more frequently.

Your insurance policy may help to pay for replacements but won't compensate for the amount of time spent sourcing them nor for the stress associated with being burgled. By the time you've dealt with the insurance company and the Police and then sourced replacements a week or more may have passed. All that time the job has been delayed or you've had to turn down work.

However there is a way to protect yourself and your tools - Datatag.

Datatag ID Ltd, the country's leading security marking experts and the company behind the CESAR (Agricultural Plant and Machinery) and MASTER (Motorcycle) official marking schemes. Both industries, since adopting Datatag technologies, have seen dramatic reductions in theft with the majority of companies in those fields now fitting Datatag as standard to all new machinery.

The good news for your power tools is that Datatag have recently launched a system for the power tool market containing the same technologies. Each Powertool System contains a new and unique ultra-destruct warning label and a bottle of Datadots® containing 1000's of identifying dots.

The specially designed warning label, impossible to remove once applied, contains a unique identification number and QR code which proves ownership. Being highly visible it's a strong deterrent to thieves as they know the effectiveness of Datatag in proving ownership. In fact when used as evidence in court Datatag have never lost a case! The Datadots® each have the same ID number and are held in a UV trace adhesive. These 'dots' applied to almost every part of the tool, leave thousands of identifying marks, easy for Police to identify and practically impossible for thieves to completely remove.

James Woodward, Sales Team Leader at Buxtons of Penkridge said, "Customer feedback has been very good, not only with DIYers but also professional users as many have been victims of crime in the past."

Ben Coates, NFU Affinities and Services Manager said, "Rural crime, in particular machinery and tool theft, is a real problem for Members. To help we established a strategic partnership with Datatag offering a low-cost high-impact solution to help tackle rural crime." He went on "We chose Datatag as market leaders in asset identification and because of their work with CESAR. We wholeheartedly encourage all users to fit Datatag as standard. Only in this way can we hope to replicate the success of the CESAR scheme."

Datatag is fast getting a reputation as a 'Don't Touch' system amongst criminals - they know that Datatagged property is simply too hot to handle. Once they see yours is protected they'll usually go looking for an easier target.

Youngsters' summer of learning

European skating champion Rich Parker, centre, with Alex Johnson and Grant Morris from Pertemps Coachright and Bryn Sharratt and Emily Bell from Cannock who took part in the NCS initiative

MORE than 100 youngsters spent the summer learning new skills so they can give something back to the community.

The 16 and 17-year-olds, including teenagers from Cannock, volunteered for the National Citizen Service (NCS) initiative, a government-funded project that encourages young people to challenge themselves and develop their social skills through a range of activities. Team building exercises were carried out at the National Water Sports Centre in Nottingham before the course then moved to a week's residential on Staffordshire University campus in Stoke.

After completing the course, the youngsters graduated with a certificate personally signed by the Prime Minister David Cameron.

Payout on salmonella ordeal

A RUGELEY woman has been handed a five-figure settlement after being laid low by salmonella while on a luxury holiday.

Tour operator Thomas Cook paid out the sum to Tracy Middleton. The 50-year-old fell ill after returning from the Casa Marina Reef Resort in the Dominican Republic in October 2011 with her husband Kieran. The break at the luxury hotel had been paid for by Tracy's late father as a thank you for nursing him through cancer treatment.

On their return, she was admitted to Stafford Hospital for four days after becoming severely dehydrated due to sickness and diarrhoea.

Cramps

Even now, she still experiences painful stomach cramps and muscle pains and must avoid certain foods like bread, pasta and wine.

The couple instructed International Personal Injury lawyers at Irwin Mitchell to investigate and the firm has secured the payout.

Clare Comiskey, representing Tracy, said she could now put the ordeal behind her. "Tracy and Kieran's holiday was ruined due to Tracy's illness," she said.

Tracy said: "The illness and health problems have had a significant impact on my life. I now feel like I have got some closure and just want to put all of this behind me."

Work experience and euthanasia among Youth Parliament topics

CANNOCK Chase MP Aidan Burley is urging youngsters to vote in the UK Youth Parliament's annual Make your Mark ballot. The MP has teamed up with the Member of Youth Parliament (MYP) for Lichfield and Cannock Chase Megan Collins.

The five topics with the most votes from a shortlist of 10 will be debated by elected MYPs at a special sitting at the House of Commons in November.

At the end of the sitting the MYPs will then vote to decide the most important issue to campaign on for the year ahead. Topics this year include voting at 16, work experience and euthanasia.

MYPs have set themselves a target of getting a million young people to take part.

Mr Burley said: "This ballot is a great way for all young people here in Cannock Chase help decide what issues are debated by Megan and the other MYPs in the House of Commons later this year."

Youngsters aged 11-to-18 can have a say by voting at www.mi-voice.com/mym/

A PHOTOGRAPHIC club put St Giles Hospice in the frame when it came to fundraising.

Members – and guests – of the Rugeley and Armitage Camera Club pulled out their wallets and their cameras in support of the hospice.

As well as donating vital funds, the club, founded four years ago, has pooled its creative talent to supply a collection of 40 unique framed photographs.

While some of the images have been auctioned for the charity, 20 now take pride of place in patients' rooms at St Giles' Compassus Centre.

John Sylvester, club secretary, said: "Our president Roy Hodgkiss, who lives in Armitage, joined the club just after its formation. His daughter works at St Giles Hospice and when we heard about the work they do we knew we wanted to help them make a difference.

"Last year at our first annual presentation evening and auction, we raised over £1,000. This year, we decided to make the hospice our 'chosen charity' and so far we've raised another £1,500 to help fund their work.

"As well as donating money, we wanted to do something that would make a more personal impact on patients, and so the idea came about to donate some original pieces of photography taken by our members, to be displayed throughout the hospice."

The positive impact of art is an important facet of the work done at St Giles. This year the charity produced a book of art and poetry entitled 'Being Here'. The content of the book was inspired by the experiences of patients, carers, staff and volunteers.

Helen Relihan, head of fundraising for St Giles Hospice, said: "We would like to thank the Rugeley and Armitage Camera Club for their kind-hearted support.

Memories

"The money they have raised will help us to continue providing high-quality care for local people living with cancer and other serious illnesses.

"The photographs they have donated will touch our patients, their carers and even our staff. Much of the photography was shot locally, and will hold very personal memories and associations for many people here.

"One in three people living in this area will be touched by the work of St Giles. The ongoing support we receive from local groups like the Rugeley and Armitage Camera Club is hugely important to us."

Funding for road maintenance will be cut by council

FUNDING for road maintenance across Staffordshire will fall by up to half over the coming year as bosses stop ploughing extra cash into the network.

The county council has revealed that around £22 million will be available for improvements in 2014/15.

But that number is between 40 and 50 per cent lower than the year before as an extra £50m of funding invested by the council since 2009 comes to an end.

Bosses admit the amount of work carried out will be less than previous years. They insist the condition of roads has improved in recent years and that the current funds are enough to keep them that way.

A report by the council reveals it is 'inevitable that compared with recent years the highway maintenance programme will reduce significantly in 2014/15'.

It is estimated that £30m is needed each year to maintain the 6,000km of road across the county.

Pumped

The council has pumped an extra £33 million into highway maintenance from its reserves since 2009 to make up an shortfalls. This will end this year.

Meanwhile, new figures show the county's roads are the safest since records began 30 years ago – and are now among the top three safest in the country.

The number of people killed or seriously injured in Staffordshire is at its lowest level since 1984. In that year, 1,395 people were ekilled or seriously injured compared to 213 in 2013. For 2014, the figure stands at 165.

Strategy launched to tackle business crime

POLICE & Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis has launched a new strategy to help businesses avoid becoming crime victims.

The Business Crime Matters Strategy, available at http://www.staffordshire-pcc.gov.uk/business/ is being delivered by Deputy Commissioner Sue Arnold.

She said: "This new strategy is about building confidence in businesses by providing them with timely information that is relevant to their sector and the area where they are based."

Power station noise alert

A LOUD explosion at Rugeley's Power Station prompted fears of a serious problem. Bosses have moved to reassure residents that the bang which was heard last Tuesday morning (August 25) at around 1.40am, was just a sudden load reduction on a boiler being routinely tested.

A statement on the station's website says: "A number of residents heard the noise and were quite justifiably concerned. We would like to stress that the power station safety systems worked correctly and there was no risk to staff, the public or the environment."

Carjacker jailed for more than seven years

A CARJACKER who stole an Audi with a boy of two strapped into a child seat has been sentenced to more than seven years in jail.

Lee Southall pulled the driver over, claiming to want directions, but then punched him in the face and sprayed him with an unknown substance before grabbing the keys.

Southall, who was on licence for his role in an armed robbery near Burntwood in March 2009, jumped in the car and left the driver and his partner at the roadside as he fled with their son.

Lee Southall – jailed

The 39-year-old stopped a short time later and lowered the youngster, who was in the back of the vehicle, out of a window.

The drama unfolded in Francis Road, Stechford, last September. Southall fled with the car, which was never recovered, but the boy's mother spotted him in a photo posted on a friend's Facebook page days later and raised the alarm.

Tracked

He went on the run, but was eventually tracked down by police. Southall, who is from Birmingham but has no fixed address, pleaded guilty to robbery.

He has now been jailed for seven-and-a-half years with an extended licence period of four years after appearing at Birmingham Crown Court.

Dc Damian Forrest said: "This young couple only stopped their car to offer help and found themselves by the side of the road watching their son being driven away at considerable speed.

"Thankfully the two-year-old boy's ordeal lasted only a few seconds and he was swiftly reunited, unhurt, with his parents, but his father suffered a cut lip and other facial injuries.

"By chance the child's mother spotted Southall whilst browsing a friend's Facebook page a few days later.

"Southall became aware he'd been identified and went on the run, but we found him a month later."

DC Forrest said that at the time of his arrest, Southall was still on licence for his role in the armed robbery at Hammerwich Post Office in which sub-postmistress Kim Frankham broke an arm. He was one of two masked raiders jailed for eight years.

"The judge recognised that Southall is a dangerous offender and I am pleased that he will be removed from the streets for some considerable time," said DC Forrest.

New stores to open at town's indoor centre

A NUMBER of new stores are set to open up at Cannock's former InShops complex.

Now called the Birwood indoor market, it is located within Cannock Shopping Centre.

Setting up there in September will be Sovereign Clothing, a company specialising in men's fashion.

A new phone stand will open in the Cannock Mall front window opposite Argos, offering the chance to sell, trade, repair and accessorise mobile phones.

Meanwhile the Sweet Shop is under new ownership and will launch its new confectionary stall. The company has expanded from its previous days as the Candy Box and has added another 150 new lines, giving shoppers the chance to choose from more than 325 varieties of sweets.

Craft

The Cannock Printer has expanded and Craft Creations has set up shop, giving customers the chance to buy an array of both edible and non-edible craft items.

Natal Chapman, Cannock Shopping Centre manager, said: "We are delighted to have so many new and interesting companies joining our already thriving community of stores."

Poison reputation of notorious doctor

History Book Reviews

IT was a case that shocked Victorian England and put Rugeley on the map.

Even now the tale of Dr William Palmer, aka the Prince of Poisoners, still sparks interest and debate — 158 years on from his death on June 14 1856, as a crowd of 30,000 bayed for his blood.

Former journalist Stephen Bates gives his take on Palmer's deeds. He was convicted of one murder, that of his friend John Parsons Cook, but was suspected of killing several more, most notably his wife and children.

In The Poisoner: The Life and Crimes of Victorian England's Most Notorious Doctor (Duckworth, hardback £16.99), Bates leaves the readers to draw their own conclusion from his meticulous research. It is Bates' ability to conjure up that uncertainty that makes this such a compelling read. MS

The Poisoner looks at an infamous case

AN HISTORICAL epic with as much war, gore, deal making and double crossing as Game of Thrones, but it is historical fact rather than fantasy fiction that is the narrative in a new book which casts light on the Dark Ages.

Peter Heather examines 600 years of history, spanning the period between the fall of the Roman Empire and the rise of the Papacy in The Restoration of Rome (Pan, paperback, £12.99). He looks at several great European leaders who tried to emulate the greatness of the Roman Empire.

The last Roman Emperor of the West was still alive when the Goth warlord Theoderic made the first serious attempt to revive the glory of Rome with an empire stretching from Spain to Croatia. Though apparently able to slice an opponent in two with his sword, Theoderic turns out to have been an astute politician. He was certainly well-educated, having grown up in Constantinople as the guest/hostage of the Emperor of the Eastern Roman Empire, to ensure his father stayed on good terms.

Medieval

The Professor of Medieval History at King's College London goes on to tell about others who tried to reignite the imperial flame, such as Justinian and Charlemagne, key figures from early European history who are little known to a modern audience. There is plenty of detail with all the footnotes a serious history buff could want but Professor Heather also keeps the tone light and engaging for the more casual reader.

The White House is ablaze and the President and his wife only just had time to flee. And who is responsible... the British Army.

If you think that America winning the War of Independence put an end to violent conflict between the United States and Britain, prepare to be surprised, because 30 years later the Limeys were back with a vengeance.

Two hundred years ago, in August 1814, Britain gave America a bloody nose in a confrontation that was to have a major impact on both nations, eventually turning bitter enemies into friends and allies.

Yet the British attack on Washington and Baltimore is almost forgotten, unlike the victory over America's former friend Napoleon which followed a few months later at Waterloo. The incident did, however, inspire America's National Anthem.

Read about this fascinating, largely overlooked, episode from history in journalist and broadcaster Peter Snow's fascinating account When Britain Burned the White House: The 1814 Invasion of Washington (John Murray, paperback, £9.99).

Dance critic Judith Mackrell turns to the Jazz Age in Flappers (Pan, paperback, £8.99), looking at the Roaring 20s through the eyes of six women who audaciously and daringly reinvented themselves for a new era. These formidable ladies — Diana Cooper, Nancy Cunard, Tallulah Bankhead, Zelda Fitzgerald, Josephine Baker and Tamara de Lempicka — were determined to do much more than look fashionable and dance the Charleston.

The Kremlin has long symbolised power in Russia and Red Fortress: The Secret Heart of Russia's History (Penguin, paperback, £10.99) is a 'biography' of the Moscow landmark in which Catherine Merridale goes behind the walls and towers to reveal the roots of Russian politics and culture. This engaging history is even more pertinent in the Putin era when decisions made inside the Red Fortress still have huge significance. LB

View of Exhibition site looking towards Molineux House

A painting of George Africanus out hunting

Visitors from Nottingam look through documents at the Wolverhampton Archive

Molineux House viewed from the rear in 1871

Bought as a slave, the Molineux family put him on road to success

HE was bought as a slave to the influential Molineux family. But George Africanus went on to become one of the Midlands most successful businessmen, forming an employment agency for domestic staff.

Now the remarkable life of Africanus could soon form part of the history curriculum in schools following a lottery-funded project researching his rags to riches story.

It is thought George Africanus was probably brought by a Bristol sea captain from Sierra Leone in 1763, and given as a present to the wealthy Molineux family, who had made their fortune as ironmasters and bankers. Benjamin Molineux, whose father John had set up as an ironmaster in Horseley Fields, Wolverhampton, acquired the sprawling Molineux House in Tup Street in 1732, as part of a deal worth £700.

And it was here where George Africanus' spent his formative years. Ordinarily, somebody of his background would have become just another downtrodden slave. However Benjamin Molineux and his son George appeared to demonstrate an unusual benevolence, treating him almost as a member of their own family.

MEMORY LANE

By Mark Andrews

He was taught to read and write, trained as a hairdresser, and was even allowed to take up an apprenticeship as a brass founder.

Now, a party of historians based in Nottingham, where Africanus made his money, travelled to Wolverhampton to see documents relating to his early life – at the archives centre at Molineux House, where Africanus spent his formative years. Nine members from the Belong Nottingham charity, which looks at aspects of ethnic minority culture in the city, called into the Wolverhampton Archive Centre to see the documents it held.

The group has secured a £69,000 lottery grant which it is using to develop a teaching programme to be used in schools.

The earliest record relating to him states that he was baptised at St Peter's Church on March 31, 1766, and this may have been a clue to the family's intentions.

Belief

Wolverhampton playwright and historian Jefny Ashcroft, who has researched his life, said: "It was a commonly held belief at the time that if a slave had been baptised they were legally a free person. Thus the Molineuxs may have deliberately had George christened to show their future good intentions.

At the age of 14 the family arranged for him to take up an apprenticeship with a Wolverhampton brass-founder, and the skills he learned put him in good stead for when in 1784 he set off for a new life in Nottingham, at the age of 21.

The family had connections in Nottingham and Africanus used the variety of skills he learned in Wolverhampton to make his way in Nottingham, taking up jobs as a waiter, hairdresser, and in a brass foundry, and in 1878 he was sufficiently well established to marry a local woman, Esther Shaw.

He invested in property, which he rented out, and this also allowed him to vote as a 'freeman', as well as enabling him to serve on the local Watch Committee.

And when it became evident that slavery was going to be abolished in 1772, the enterprising former slave spotted a business opportunity.

As slave owners started getting rid of their servants, often turfing them penniless out onto the streets, he and his wife Esther set up an employment agency placing destitute ex-slaves in paid positions as servants.

George returned to Wolverhampton, perhaps for the last time, in 1800, bringing his child, Sarah to be baptised at St Peter's church. He died in 1834.

Musical madness as theatre stages Nutty Boys production

TICKETS are still available for a musical being performed by an award-winning theatre group this week.

Backstreet Theatre Company is putting on the Madness musical Our House at the Prince of Wales Centre in Church Street, Cannock.

The latest performance features the foot-stomping songs of the north London ska band Madness including House of Fun, Baggy Trousers, Driving In My Car and It Must Be Love.

The show starts tonight (Thursday) and runs until Saturday (September 6). Show times are at 7.30pm each night. Tickets are £12 for adults and £10 for concessions.

Backstreet Theatre Company was founded in 2011 after a small group of performers took to the stage at the Prince of Wales Theatre for a charity concert. The company's first production was Rent in March 2011.

The group won the National Operatic and Dramatic Association West Midlands Regional Award for their last production, Jekyll and Hyde.

Rehearsals

New members are being sought, though they must be over the age of 16.

Rehearsals are held at Bridgtown Community Centre in Cannock on Thursdays from 7-10pm. There are currently 25 members in Backstreet and the company is run by Gladstone Wilson.

For tickets, call the theatre on 01543 578762 or go to www.positickets.co.uk

Remembering Thomas with zumba session

THE aunt of a talented footballer who died of meningitis on his 13th birthday is hosting a fun fitness fundraiser to fight the deadly disease.

The zumbathon will be held this Saturday (September 6) in memory of Thomas Smith, of Hednesford, who was nicknamed Ronnie for his Ronaldo-style soccer skills and dreamed of playing for Aston Villa and England.

The youngster first complained of a headache while on a family on holiday in Wales. His parents Emma and Andrew took him to an out-of-hours GP, who referred Thomas to Prince Charles Hospital, Merthyr Tydfil.

The popular Chasetown Scholars and Kingsmead Technology College player had shown meningitis signs including a headache and stiff neck, but initially received paracetamol instead of antibiotics.

Four hours after admission, a senior paediatrician diagnosed pneumococcal meningitis and antibiotics were administered, an inquest heard.

Impact

But the disease had progressed and Thomas suffered a seizure, so was rushed to the University Hospital of Wales, Cardiff. He died on May 29 last year – his 13th birthday.

Emma said: "Thomas was sensitive and caring, but had a wicked sense of humour and always made people laugh. His departure has had an enormous impact on everyone who knew him.

"We're proud of his achievements and want is inviting anyone over the age of 13 to the 'ZumbaTOM'."

Thomas Smith – who died aged 13

It takes place at Chase Leisure Centre, Stafford Road. Zumba instructors have agreed to give up their time for free to run four classes from noon to 4pm. Fancy dress is encouraged and entry is £5 on the door.

Jayne said: "It'll be a fun and emotional day to remember Thomas, and the chance to raise awareness and funds to fight the awful disease.

"It's less about getting fit and more about having fun to fundraise for Meningitis Now."

Insurance dodgers target of police blitz

THE number of vehicles seized in a landmark crackdown on insurance dodgers has hit the 2,500 mark.

Cars Behind Bars was introduced across Staffordshire in May 2013.

Cars, vans, motorbikes, mopeds, lorries and even a tractor has been seized by Staffordshire Police in that time – enough to reach across Cannock Chase if lined up nose to tail.

By Laura Blyth

Around a third of those vehicles have been scrapped, police say.

Police and Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis, who introduced the campaign, said: "Although it was launched over a year ago, the crackdown on insurance dodgers remains far and away the most popular thing raised with me by people I've spoken to across Staffordshire and Stoke.

Seized

"Over 2,500 people have now had to learn their lesson the hard way.

"They are being caught and dealt with by having their vehicles seized and, in many cases, scrapped."

Cars Behind Bars uses Staffordshire's extensive automatic number plate recognition (ANPR) system that identifies those flouting the law.

Staffordshire Police Chief Superintendent Jon Drake said: "Staffordshire has an extensive ANPR system which allows us to identify vehicles that are uninsured, as well as those that have no tax or suspected of being involved in other crimes.

"We often find that those who choose to drive on our roads without insurance are linked to other criminal offences such as theft and burglary."

The fixed penalty fine for people who are caught without insurance was increased nationally from £200 to £300 in August last year.

Motorists also face their car being seized, could be summoned to court and be disqualified and have their licence endorsed with six penalty points.

Some of the vehicles seized since the campaign launched can be viewed at www.staffordshire.police.uk/carsbehindbars

Company has Midas touch for expansion

Midas directors Matt Slater, Annette Dwyer and Les Tonks, with Tania Williams, Chloe Bayliss and Jim Batt

A GREAT Wyrley accountancy firm has invested in a major revamp and recruited three new staff ahead of its landmark 20th year.

Midas Accountants, in Walsall Road, has welcomed Chloe Bayliss as a receptionist and administration assistant, Tania Williams in bookkeeping and payroll and Jim Batt as a qualified accountant and client manager. Liam Crowley and Kelly Parish have also taken on new roles.

The expansion comes just months after Midas merged with Gilbert & Co of Wolverhampton and Telford, creating a 16-strong team. Les Tonks, who set up Midas Accountants in 1995, said: "It's brilliant to be expanding at this time, we are proud of our achievements to date."

Chatsworth at Christmas

Experience a magical weekend break and step into a real life Christmas card, by visiting Chatsworth, the Derbyshire home of the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire.

Chatsworth, is an impressive sight at any time of the year, but in the run up to Christmas the house becomes even more spectacular.

Take a walk around the lower floors and see the beautifully decorated trees, sleighs and snow in a festive celebration of 'Alice's Wonderland'.

Enjoy live musical entertainment from brass bands to string quartets and maybe savour some mulled cider and German beer. There is also the chance to browse the festive stalls.

The break also includes a trip to Meadowhall Shopping Centre, near Sheffield, with more than 280 different retailers, and home to some of the world's finest brands.

FROM £119

Resort that still Towers over rest

As MARK SHIPP finds out on a day out with his family, Blackpool rocks as a tourist destination

ITS famous tower has dominated the skyline since 1894, but there's more to Blackpool than the famous landmark.

The structure houses a world of entertainment in its own right, not to mention the spectacular views from the top. Dancers clamour to use its historic ballroom, while the Blackpool Tower Circus has entertained families for years on end.

Add the Pleasure Beach, piers, the zoo and illuminations to the mix and it becomes apparent why holidaymakers continue to flood to the town.

A multi-million pound initiative is now ensuring the town retains its place as Britain's leading holiday destination.

Daring Tower Circus antics

The famous Blackpool Tower

The Blackpool Tower Eye offers stunning views – and a Walk of Fame

Repairs

Merlin Entertainments, the company behind the London Eye, is heavily involved in the BlackpoolsBack initiative. It has carried out a programme of repairs at the Tower, as well as converting Louis Tussaud's waxworks into the more famous Madame Tussaud's.

Visitors can take advantage of a Merlin Big Ticket, offering admission to seven major attractions, Sea Life, Blackpool Tower Eye and Circus, 4-D cinema, Jungle Jim's, Madame Tussaud's and the Blackpool Tower Dungeon. This offers a convenient and value for money way to enjoy all that is on offer.

Our children now are too old to take in Jungle Jim's, while Sea Life could not be fitted into the busy itinerary, but what fun was had by all.

It was our first time in the dungeons, but well worth a visit. And, despite having ventured to the top of the Tower before, this was a completely new experience, preceded by a terrific 4-D movie and enhanced by its glorious vantage point and celebrated Walk of Fame.

Madame Tussaud's remains popular with tourists having snapshots taken with the stars – or drinking in The Rovers Return. The circus was one of the highlights of the day. The Big Ticket is valid for 90 days from purchase for one visit to each attraction. A 50 per cent saving can be made online. It costs £90.20 on the day for adults, aged 15 plus, or just £45 online. A child's ticket, aged from three to 14, is £62.25 or £32.50 in advance.

Food for thought over waste collection change

RESIDENTS in Burntwood now have to put their food waste in black bins as part of a revamp of collections.

Until now they could discard food in brown bins with garden waste – now they are being asked to use the black bins, which contain general waste.

It is hoped the changes will save Lichfield District Council, which covers the town, around £250,000 a year.

It has launched a promotional campaign to get the message across to residents. And staff are expected to check people's bins to ensure they are putting rubbish in the right ones.

The changes are being brought in alongside Tamworth Borough Council, which Lichfield shares waste collection services with.

By Adam Burling

Onerous

A report to the council states: "It is anticipated for the first few months that resources will have to be allocated to checking garden waste in order to identify residents that continue to mix food waste with their garden waste.

"This will initially be quite an onerous task as there are in excess of 70,000 bins presented in both districts every fortnight."

Councillor Iain Eadie, Lichfield District Council's cabinet member for IT & waste management, said: "Food waste could now contaminate the garden waste we compost, so it's really important that everyone remembers to add it to their black bins from now on.

"Any fruit or vegetables grown in the garden, that may have spoiled or dropped off trees, can still be put into brown bins.

"However, things like potato peelings and cauliflower leaves, which are removed while cooking, must not be put in your brown bin as they have been prepared in the kitchen and may have come into contact with other food bacteria."

Recycling rates jumped by almost 30 per cent since a new collection service was launched in South Staffordshire.

Steve Lightfoot, Shahzad Iqbal, Councillor Diane Evans and Councillor Heather Tranter launch the new transport service in Burntwood

Scheme to improve the drains

A £25,000 project to improve drains outside a row of shops prone to flooding will start in October.

The scheme is being carried out by the county council on the pedestrian area in Burntwood at the corner of Cannock Road and Water Street.

When it rains water collects on the paving slabs and in the winter when it is wet it freezes over posing a danger to pedestrians, according to local councillors.

Flooding

Chase Terrace Councillor Eric Drinkwater welcomed news that work was soon to start.

He said: "It will relieve the long-standing problem of flooding in that area."

Funding has come from a pot of funds that developers of larger sites pay to councils to make improvements in the area.

Benches in the pedestrian area will also be replaced. Access to the shops will not be restricted.

Vulnerable adults' disco

STARS Disco for vulnerable adults takes place tomorrow night (Friday).

They are held on the first Friday of the month at Burntwood Memorial Hall, in Rugeley Road, from 7 to 10pm. Entry is £3 and there will be a licensed bar.

For more details, call Anne on 01543 301497.

Dial-a-ride scheme is launched

A NEW community Dial-a-Ride Service has been launched in Burntwood.

Residents who have difficulty accessing public transport can now book a door-to-door service to help them visit the leisure centre, shops, medical centre, library or supermarket.

Burntwood Town Council is working with Lichfield District Council's Community Transport Scheme to provide the service three days a week and trained volunteers will be driving the wheelchair-accessible mini buses across Burntwood.

Bosses say the plans have been in the pipeline for months after residents said they were finding it difficult to use public transport.

Trips cost £2 and must be booked in advance. Books of tickets are available from Burntwood Town Council in Bridge Cross Road.

Road plans to cut down on speeding

A 20MPH speed limit and parking restrictions could be brought in on a road plagued by speeding drivers following complaints from residents.

Councillors have spent months looking at what changes are needed in Princess Street, Chase Terrace. Now plans are being put forward for a 20mph limit and parking restrictions near the 'blind bend'.

Ward councillor Susan Woodward said the problems had been 'a source of real concern and tension'.

Changes

Fellow ward councillor Eric Drinkwater said: "We have talked to residents and listened carefully to what they say.

"We believe that these small but important changes, especially the 20mph zone and new signs, should help.

"It's the people who live in the street who know best and we hope they feel that this has had a good airing."

Monthly 'Men' meeting date

THE Men of Burntwood welcomes Keith Cheetham to their monthly meeting at St Matthews Sports & Social Club next week.

His topic for the night, on Wednesday, September 10, from 7.45pm will be 'Black Country Tourist'.

A warm welcome to The Friary School

It is my pleasure as headteacher to extend a warm welcome to parents and students who are considering an application to The Friary School. Our aims as a school are very clear and straightforward. They apply to every single student, regardless of age and aptitude.

We want all our students to:

- Take pride in everything they do
- Develop the knowledge, skills and understanding which will prepare them for life
- Develop enquiring, creative minds and enjoy learning - including learning from each other
- Achieve the highest possible standards and qualifications
- Be happy, respectful, healthy and safe

We want all our students to be able to express themselves confidently and perform to the very highest levels in every aspect of their lives within and beyond the school environment. Whilst our dual specialism in sport and the arts plays a key role in our pursuit of these aims and provides the school with a distinct identity, it does not mean that you have to be particularly keen on sport, music, drama, dance and art to succeed and enjoy your time as a Friary pupil. However, if you are then you will have plenty of opportunities to shine.

Our young people will be entering a world of work where they will have to adapt readily to change. It is important that we help them to develop as independent, resourceful learners, with the initiative and organisational skills they will need in their further studies and working lives. Above all, we want the Friary pupil to be one who is never afraid to 'have a go' at something, no matter how challenging it might at first appear.

Effort and attitude

To help our students achieve the very best they can, and in keeping with our mission statement we set ambitious academic targets and rigorously track and support pupils in our pursuit of them. At the same time, it is important that they develop into young adults as compassionate and caring members of their community and we set great store by developing personal qualities in addition to subject knowledge. Effort and attitude are just as important as attainment.

Visitors to The Friary frequently compliment us on the friendly, calm and purposeful atmosphere. Parents are always welcome, and that partnership with parents is vital to our success as a learning community.

We are proud of our roots in this city's rich history and our contribution to its thriving culture. The Latin motto on our school badge, 'Inservi Deo et Laetare' ('serve God and be cheerful') is one we share proudly with the cathedral. It links us to the past and is an appropriate summary of the way we encourage all pupils to develop their individual talents for the benefit of all and, above all, to always think positively about themselves and others.

The school was judged 'good' in all areas by Ofsted in March 2014 and in the summer of 2014 we achieved our best ever GCSE results for the second successive year, with 73% of year 11 pupils achieving at least 5 A*C grades including English and Maths. For more detailed information about the school please take a look at our prospectus, which you will also find on the school website (www.friaryschool.com).

Kevin Bridges

Kevin Bridges Live at the Referendum (BBC1, 10.20pm)

The pending referendum on Scottish independence is currently on the minds of millions, including four of the UK's top comedians. The quartet is brought together by Glasgow's Kevin Bridges for this tongue-in-cheek look at one of the hottest political potatoes of the year. Glasgow's Theatre Royal is the venue for this rib-tickling event as Kevin welcomes Hal Cruttenden, a veteran of Mock the Week who picked up a Best Newcomer nomation at the Edinburgh Comedy Awards in 2002. He's joined by deadpan funnyman Jack Dee, Kerry Godliman – these days better known as the long-suffering Hannah in Ricky Gervais sitcom Derek – and one of Glasgow's most successful and controversial comedians, Frankie Boyle.

Over the course of the winter, Guy gets stuck into restoration work on the town's pier, rebuilds an original helter skelter and services the town's funicular tramway. He learns how the appetite for sea-bathing began when word spread that it was good for the glands and finds out how engineering developments in factories also led to a revolution in musical instruments. (R)

8.00 The Boats That Made Britain: A Time Team Special. The Bronze Age was the time when the British landscape became civilised, with fields, farms and the first roads, but little evidence survives of what life was like 3,500 years ago. However, in 1992, archaeologists in Dover town centre unearthed something that shed light on this mysterious era. Six metres underground they discovered the perfectly preserved remains of a large boat. Tony Robinson joins a team of experts as they strive to reconstruct the Dover Boat – one of the world's oldest seagoing vessels – using only materials and tools from its era.

9.00 Houdini. The first of a two-part drama following the life of legendary illusionist and escape artist Harry Houdini from poverty to worldwide fame. MONDAY
No, Channel 4, 12am
In 1988, Chile's military dictator Augusto Pinochet is forced by international pressure to hold a referendum on his continued rule. An advertising executive is recruited by the opposition leaders, and despite limited resources and the threat of the tyrant's forces, launches a campaign to liberate the nation. Fact-based drama, starring Gael Garcia Bernal. In Spanish. (2012)

TUESDAY
Backdraft, ITV, 10.40pm
The two sons of a fireman who died in the line of duty follow him into the profession. However, a feud develops between them because the elder brother is convinced his sibling is not up to the job – until a mission to uncover the identity of a serial arsonist gives him the chance to prove his worth. Action drama, starring Kurt Russell and William Baldwin. (1991)

WEDNESDAY
Rounders, BBC1, 11.45pm
A gifted young poker player gives up gambling when he loses all his savings and turns his attention to studying the law. However, when an old friend is released from prison with substantial debts to worry about, he is persuaded to return to the world of high-stakes poker. Drama, starring Matt Damon. (1998)

Backdraft, Tuesday, ITV, 10.40pm

THURSDAY
Web of Desire, Channel 5, 3.15pm
An emergency-room doctor turns to the internet to vent her frustrations about the pressures of her career and family life. She makes a connection with a like-minded individual, and when the pair meet, she is surprised to discover her online confidante is a woman, with whom she embarks on an ill-advised affair. Thriller, starring Dina Meyer, Adrian Hough and Claudette Mink. (2009)

FRIDAY
The 40 Year-Old Virgin, ITV, 10.40pm
A middle-aged shop worker reveals he has never been intimate with a woman, which prompts his shocked colleagues to set him up with a series of potentially passionate dates. When he falls for a single mother, his friends think he is right on course for a lusty liaison, but his new partner is not ready for a physical relationship. Judd Apatow's comedy, starring Steve Carell, Catherine Keener and Paul Rudd. (2005)

PICK OF THE WEEK

Lorraine returns to turn up the heat in the kitchen

When Ms Pascale first came on to our screens almost four years ago now, many of us questioned what this super-slim former world-class supermodel could possibly know about good, hearty food. After all, Lorraine isn't your typical chef – she doesn't turn the air blue while barking out orders and she saunters around her kitchens with barely a hair out of place.

So actually, we were the ones left eating our words (pun intended) when, as it turned out, not only did she know rather a lot about home cooking, she could give Jamie Oliver a run for his money.

Yes, this lady is definitely a lot more than just a pretty face and after years of modelling and to-ing and fro-ing between jobs (which included hypnotherapy and trying her hand at being a mechanic), thank heavens she finally found her calling.

With the modelling – for the most part – in the past, thankfully for us she's keen to demonstrate that cooking needn't be a complicated, tie-yourself-up-in-knots affair. It's easy – however, that needn't mean it shas to be simple-looking, and tonight, she returns for another culinary effort; this time with a six-part series, demonstrating a range of easy-to-follow recipes and simple culinary tips. It seems there's hope for all of us yet.

Lorraine will be teaching six kitchen novices how to wow their friends and family at a surprise dinner party. From knocking up an easy family meal from scratch to creating posh canapés for a hen party, she is taking on the most amateur of cooks and teaching them the tips of the experts.

And there's a lot of excitement around the show, with Lorraine explaining: "With this series, we want to make cooking accessible for everyone – no matter their experience level. I'll be joining people in their own kitchens and showing them just how easy it is to whip up food that's guaranteed to impress."

Meanwhile, Alison Kirkham, BBC Head of Commissioning, Factual Features and Formats, says: "Lorraine's no-nonsense approach to cooking has been a huge hit with BBC Two audiences, and we're delighted she'll be back with this series aimed specifically at inspiring even the most unconfident among us to get cooking."

How to Be a Better Cook is just another item on Lorraine's impressively extensive CV. Of course, she is kept busy with her very own bakery, The Cupcake Bakehouse in Covent Garden, and she's recently been working alongside Jason Atherton on the judging panel of the UK version of My Kitchen Rules. However, those who are hopeless at cooking will be pleased to know there will be no judging going on here.

In fact, Lorraine's first protégé is 52-year-old builder Tony, who has never cooked a dish in his life. A three-course meal, then, might sound like a big challenge, but by the end of the show, he will have mastered a Mediterranean-inspired menu, which includes a grilled peach and burrata salad, and crispy salmon with polenta chips and grilled asparagus.

And just to top it all off, there will be a showstopping dessert.

BEST OF THE REST

MONDAY
Alex Polizzi: The Fixer
BBC2, 9pm
How do small businesses cope when they go into partnership with the 'big boys'? That's one of the questions Alex Polizzi is pondering as she travels to Kirklington, North Yorkshire, to meet the Keebles, a family of farmers-turned-sausage-makers. They need the supermarkets to sell their Heck-brand bangers in order to survive, but like many small producers, it's a relationship that has sometimes left them feeling powerless. Alex gains access to the food development kitchens of a major retailer, and also uncovers some of the secrets of supermarket shelf layouts. But will her newfound knowledge help the Keebles to ensure Heck Sausages maintain a prominent place in the nation's aisles, and become the UK's leading premium brand?

Live International Football
ITV, 7.15pm
England begin their Euro 2016 qualification process with a potentially difficult fixture away to Switzerland, as two of the sides tipped to qualify from Group E meet at St Jakob-Park in Basel. Current England head coach Roy Hodgson proved his credentials as an international manager in the 1990s, when he was in charge of the Switzerland team that qualified for the 1994 World Cup, as he led the nation to their first tournament since 1966, before also helping them progress to Euro 96 in England. That success is one of many achievements on Hodgson's lengthy résumé, and he will have to draw on all of that experience as he attempts to reinvigorate an England side that failed to progress beyond the group stage of this summer's World Cup in Brazil.

TUESDAY
Don't Stop the Music
Channel 4, 9pm
In this two-parter, internationally renowned classical pianist James Rhodes, who believes that the power of music can change lives, is on a mission to launch the nation's biggest-ever 'instrument amnesty', and is asking the public to donate unused instruments to children who could benefit from them. In the first edition, James visits St Teresa's Primary School in Basildon, Essex, which was placed in special measures after its most recent Ofsted inspection. The school's new headteacher is keen to improve academic performance, but music isn't one of her top priorities. Can James prove that music could be the key to the school's transformation?

WEDNESDAY
Scott & Bailey
ITV, 9pm
As the crime drama returns for a fourth series, a vulnerable young man is reported missing by his pub landlord boss. Syndicate 9 suspect Robin McKendrick may have been killed after a photo of him bound and gagged in a car boot appears online. However, the case takes an unusual turn when a body found in a flooded quarry turns out to be a woman's corpse. Meanwhile, battle-scarred from their conflict last year, Scott and Bailey are determined to move forward with honesty. The pair find themselves in front of the promotion board and pass with flying colours, leaving Gill with the task of choosing who stays on as sergeant at the department. Danny Webb joins a cast led by Lesley Sharp and Suranne Jones

Scott & Bailey, Wednesday, ITV, 9pm

Penguins on a Plane: Great Animal Moves
BBC2, 9pm
Despite the ratings-grabbing title, this two-parter isn't quite the action thriller it sounds. Rather, it's an insightful documentary revealing how thousands of exotic animals are moved around the world every day, and how they cope with being transported. First up, a flock of gentoo penguins get a luxury £40,000 container for their trip from New Zealand to Birmingham, while staff at the West Midlands Safari Park prepare to bid farewell to Pinky the two-ton hippo, who puts her trip to the south of France in danger by testing a reinforced crate to its limits.

FRIDAY
Piers Morgan's Life Stories: Andrew Flintoff
ITV, 9pm
The Lancashire cricketer reflects on his life and career. He talks candidly about resorting to extreme measures as he battled with his weight, looks back at the key role he played in England's 2005 Ashes triumph and relives the victory celebrations – when he was asked to leave the Cabinet Room at 10 Downing Street for pretending to be the Prime Minister. 'Freddie' also discusses his recent return to the sport, after doctors advised him never to run again upon his retirement in 2010.

Citroën's supermini is setting standard

By Sharon Walters

Citroën's DS3 supermini has proved to be the strongest Citroen sales success story of recent years.

Now it's been lightly refreshed with more efficient Euro6-compliant engines, smart new lights on selected versions and some extra hi-tech equipment options.

Otherwise, the recipe is much as before, with a three-door-only range of hard-top or cabrio models, striking practical design both inside and out, a range of proven engines and a huge variety of personalisation options.

This DS3 is a trendy small car in the MINI or Fiat 500 mould. Nothing especially ground-breaking about that, you might think – but stop and consider for a moment.

Before this Citroën arrived, established thinking suggested that a fashionable little urban trinket of this kind had to have a 'retro' look, with style harking back to an older classic model: all very nice but also pretty cramped when it came to carrying people and packages.

So the DS3 turned that thinking on its head, completely new and practical but also instantly iconic. Other brands have tried the same thing but with this car, only Citroën has truly succeeded. Now the formula has been subtly improved.

So what's it like to drive?

Well, you get in and settle into a sculpted seat that's set sporty. Ahead of you, the compact steering wheel feels just right and all the vital dials are set in a deeply-cowled, chrome-edged triple pod. Turn the key and both speedo and rev counter zip around their dials and return to zero. You're ready to go.

Pokier

Under the bonnet of mainstream hard-top and cabrio models, petrol people get the choice of an entry-level 82bhp petrol 1.2 or various forms of 1.6-litre power, either a 120bhp VTi model or the THP 155bhp turbocharged unit. That version makes 62 from rest in just 7.3 seconds on the way to 135mph, so it's as quick as a pricier MINI Cooper S.

There's even a pokier 204bhp 'Racing' version offered in limited numbers to cabrio buyers.

The major change though, is in the diesel range where more modern 'BlueHDi' 100 and 120bhp units are offered for the first time.

Prices start at around £12,500 but there's a premium of just over £2,500 to pay if you want the desirable cabrio version.

Citroën is keen to emphasis the amount of technology it has squeezed into the DS3. DSign, DStyle and DSport are the main trim levels and the options list includes items such as cruise control with a speed limiter, a classy MP3-compatible stereo system with a sub woofer in the boot and the MyWay satellite navigation system.

Safety equipment includes ESP stability control as standard an an advanced ABS braking system and six airbags.

Personalisation is a term that is cropping up with increasing regularity when we talk about trendy small cars and this revised DS3 further embraces it with things like a laser-etched dashboard strip and a screen-printed rear window. There are wider colour and wheel options too.

As before, the roof, mirrors, dashboard, rubbing strips and wheels come in various colours and whichever bodywork colour you choose, you get a matching key fob.

Clever

Safety-wise, buyers also now get the chance to specify the clever 'Active City Brake' system. Here, a radar scans the road ahead at low speeds.

If a potential collision hazard is detected, you'll be warned. If you don't respond – or aren't able to – the car with automatically brake to reduce the severity of any resulting accident.

The revised DS3 models get new Euro 6-compliant diesel and petrol engines. Diesel drivers now get the choice of BlueHDi 120 and BlueHDi 100 units, both engines offering more power and lower emissions.

Thanks to the use of leading-edge technology, including SCR (Selective Catalytic Reduction), NOx emissions are cut by 90 per cent, while CO2emissions are cut by up to four per cent.

The BlueHDi 100 variant is class-leading in terms of emissions, producing just 79g/km of CO2. The BlueHDi 120 emits 94g/km of CO2.

As well as reducing emissions and delivering greater levels of performance, both engines improve fuel efficiency, boasting figures of up to 94mpg for the BlueHDi 100 and up to 78mpg for the BlueHDi 120 version.

Citroën has also developed a Euro 6-compliant entry-level petrol unit, the 'PureTech e-VTi 82 ETG'. Delivering 69mpg over a combined cycle and producing just 95g/km of CO2, it comes only with the automated manual ETG (Efficient Tronic Gearbox).

Mazda2 is one of the best small cars to drive

By David Banner

The Mazda2 may offer a slimmed-down range these days but that doesn't mean a slimmed-down dose of appeal. This is still one of the best small cars to drive, the range these days is based around 1.3-litre petrol power, with the additional option of an automatic if you want it.

Today's range is mainly based around either high value 'Tamura'-spec models, sportier-looking 'Colour Edition' or 'Sport Colour Edition' variants.

Under the bonnet, buyers will find an upgraded Euro 5-compliant powertrain line-up offered with either 75 or 84PS. So does it zoom zoom?

Well yes it does.

The high-mounted gear lever shifts neatly and the whole car feels handy and light on its feet. It never feels unstable and the steering's quick acting.

Performance-wise, the 75PS 1.3 will cover the 0-62mph dash in 14.9 seconds on to a top speed of 104mph. The 84PS 1.3 by comparison is of course sprightlier and will do 0-62mph in 13.6 seconds and keep going to a top speed of 106mph.

These days, only a five-door bodystyle is on offer, giving flexibility to parents who perhaps have young children and are looking for a small runabout. Those back doors certainly make wrestling Junior into the rear child seat a lot easier than would be the case if they were having to lean through in a three-door model.

And there are ISOFIX fastenings for said seat.

Comfortable

Two adults will be comfortable in the rear for short to medium-length journeys, and space for bigger passengers in the front isn't an issue. The Mazda2 is essentially par for the class in this respect.

The Mazda3 is a car that has, in the past, searched in vain for a hook with which to entice British buyers. It's been one of those solid all-rounders that has little in the way of obvious shortcomings but lacked that compelling reason to buy one, especially in the face of much-improved Korean competition.

The latest, third-generation, car looks a good deal more assured, with a vastly improved interior, a focus on improving efficiency and a really sharp exterior styling job.

Punchy

The engines comprise an entry-level 1.5-litre petrol and two 2.0-litre petrol units, as well as a 2.2-litre diesel. The 1.5-litre engine produces 99bhp and will go from rest to 62mph in 10.8 seconds, while the 2.2-litre diesel will cover the benchmark sprint in 8.1 seconds, thanks to its punchy 148bhp engine.

Mazda reckons a less powerful diesel engine will eventually be offered to UK customers but it may take quite a while.

The 2.0-litre petrol engine is offered in two distinct flavours, one packing 118bhp and the other with 165bhp.

Performance?

Think rest to 62mph in 8.9 seconds for the standard version and 8.2 seconds for the higher power version of the Mazda3.

Buyers of the 118bhp 2.0-litre petrol and the 2.2-litre diesel are also offered the option of a six-speed automatic.

Is it enough to punt the Mazda3 back into contention?

The first signs are promising. Apart from the entrance of newly-competitive cars like the Hyundai i30 and the Kia cee'd, this section of the market has felt a little moribund in recent years and a really strong contender from Mazda like the new Mazda3 should shake things up nicely.

Many plus points for refreshed Kia Optima

By James Parker

Refreshed and ready to do battle in the tough mid-size saloon market, Kia's Optima is a high-spec, value-for-money alternative to the mainstream opposition.

Kia's Optima has been around for a few years, and this mild refresh ensures that the Korean firm's mid-size saloon stays competitive in a crowded marketplace populated by more expensive and long-established rival metal. There's much to like about the Optima; it's a stylish car and its bold corporate 'look' is striking without detracting from the rest of its clean lines.

Subtle tweaks to the car's nose and tail hide a more comprehensive update inside and under the skin. Improvements to overall refinement have resulted in a quieter cabin, while there's more standard and optional kit available.

Kia's following the trend for the inclusion of smarter safety technology, such as blind spot and lane departure warning kit.

The sharp-suited Optima has nothing to fear in the company car park. The car's decidedly European styling cues sit comfortably with the less adventurous looks of many of its rivals.

Crucially, the big Kia shares many of its exterior details with smaller cars in the family, and it's this familiarity that should help tempt buyers to trade up with confidence.

Confidence also plays a big part in the ownership experience, which is why Kia has scored highly in recent years with its generous seven-year warranty.

It's an unusual yet welcome sales tactic, and has done wonders for the brand's image when it was building confidence among buyers at the start of its big European sales push many years ago.

Practicality

A large saloon like the Optima is designed from the outset to be accommodating, and the four-door Kia doesn't disappoint. Although the main focus is on front seat occupants, there's also ample room in the back for business associates or the family. The car's generous sized boot is also a big plus and the cabin isn't short of useful oddment storage options, making it an ideal environment for road warriors and their clutter.

Kia has worked to ensure the Optima delivers a refined and soothing driving experience, ready to rival the products of the established European players.

The sole 1.7-litre diesel engine option delivers a strong performance, and remains reasonably quiet when pushed hard.

Don't expect the Optima to rival the German sports saloons for outright performance though, as Kia's aim to major on refinement and comfort has largely succeeded.

In its refreshed state, boasting more kit and visibly higher quality levels, the Optima offers budget-savvy buyers a credible alternative to the wares of the more established brands. With its sensible economy and emissions ratings, plus that all-important seven-year warranty, the Optima makes a lot of sense for both private buyers and company car users.

Who would buy one?: If you're downsizing from a larger luxury car yet keen to retain your much-loved creature comforts, Kia's Optima is worth a serious look.

That's also true if you want to move up in the world but don't fancy paying big bucks for the privilege. Either way, the Optima comes with plenty of kit, is refined and capable enough to worry the opposition.

If you're a professional driver seeking reliable transport that will also impress customers, the Optima's polished appearance andspacious cabin are major plus points.

New direction with S-Cross

The march of the SUV, or sports utility vehicle, shows no signs of slowing down with several manufacturers announcing their first foray into this field in the past few months.

SUVs are mainly cars with the tall, chunky looks of the off-roader even if most of them aren't: buyers seem to balance appearances with two-wheel drive to save weight, fuel and costs.

It may be a surprise then that Suzuki, with its iconic Vitara and a history of almost half a century of 4x4s, has gone down a different route with its new S-Cross.

Still in car parlance a crossover (the clue's in the name), it's a family-sized hatchback with two or four-wheel drive options that's relatively economical to buy and run.

Top models have a newly developed and sophisticated four-wheel drive system to suit most conditions while remaining lively and economical – and with prices from £21,549 it costs less than some of its two-wheel drive opposition.

Its ALLGRIP system was made specifically for this car: not as many compromises as the traditional full-blown system in the Jimny, but more flexible than the ultra-lightweight rear differential developed for the smaller Swift 4x4.

It gives the S-Cross extra capability on and off-road, where the main limiting factor is ground clearance. It certainly made light work of the forest tracks and streams encountered on a test route in the north of England, but unlike a traditional 4x4 remained economical, sharp handling and a comfortable ride on the highway.

There are two engine options, a 1.6 petrol and 1.6 diesel. The petrol version is capable of averaging almost 40mpg while the diesel's figure is a frugal 64mpg. Their 0 to 62mph sprint times are 12 and 13 seconds respectively.

Suzuki's engineers have also come up with an excellent compromise with the suspension: it's supple enough to soak up the bumps on rough tracks yet not so soft as to give you a roly-poly ride on the road. Its dimensions, without the top heavy architecture of some SUV's, helps too.

The steering is nicely weighted and positive, and from its road manners you'd never guess this was a car quite capable of roughing it.

It's as quiet and relaxing to drive as any modern hatchback, it's light but particularly stiff body aiding performance and economy while also reducing noise in the cabin.

No-one, Suzuki included, imagines you'd buy an S-Cross for serious mud-plugging: it's more for the country dweller who has rough and muddy lanes to travel, or someone who wants extra safety and security in bad weather.

The ALLGRIP control gives you a clue. The basic setting is 'auto' so the car remains in front wheel drive until they start to slip, when the rear wheels are brought into play too. It's there as a safety back-up while giving you best day to day economy. The 'snow' setting, unsurprisingly, uses four-wheel drive as the default setting while also optimises steering and accelerator inputs for maximum traction. The 'lock' mode gives you four-wheel drive for getting yourself out of mud, sand or snow.

There are 13 different S-Cross models, starting with a two-wheel drive petrol version at £14,999. There are two automatic versions, one two wheel drive and one four wheel drive, with a continuously variable transmission.

The top of the range versions are all fitted with ALLGRIP 4WD and are also the highest trim levels, which explains their price tag of up to £23,549 for the diesel flagship. The diesels also get a six-speed transmission compared to the petrol's five gears. The diesel is also the most economical, with an official average of 64.2mpg and 114g/km of CO2 emissions compared to the petrol's 51.3mpg and 135g/km.

The decision, as always, will depend on how much you have to spend and, with diesel up to 10p per litre more expensive these days, how many miles you do as to which is best for you.

While it may look smaller than some SUV rivals, the S-Cross is surprisingly roomy inside, with decent leg and headroom for five. It also has a generous cargo space, with a 430-litre boot for your luggage, which you can double by folding down the rear seats. The cabin has a solid, quality feel to it with refreshingly clear and logical controls.

The company has pitched the car just right: a spacious family transporter with an efficient four-wheel drive system for safety and flexibility without sacrificing much in the way of performance or precious fuel.

Putting parents at ease

Vauxhall cars, is keen to put parents at ease, after a survey by the marque reveals that many parents in the region have concerns over cost and safety when it comes to their children taking to the road as young drivers.

The poll revealed that over a third of parents in the region worry about whether their child can afford to pay for all the costs associated with driving, with a further 40 per cent believing general inexperience at the wheel to be a key concern.

The survey identified that 59 per cent of parents believe young drivers are being priced out of driving due to the cost of insurance, whilst 41per cent regard driving lessons as the biggest cost they shoulder when it comes to funding their children, second only to insuring them on a car.

Vauxhall retailers are sharing these findings in a bid to reassure parents as they launch a Corsa offer that has both expenditure and driver safety at its heart.

Vauxhall has teamed up with Black Box insurance provider Ingenie to offer customers aged between 18 and 20 years old the chance to be insured for just £99 for an entire year when they have a Telematics box fitted in a new Corsa Limited Edition or Corsa Excite.

A Black Box, measures the driver's speed, acceleration, braking and cornering in order to assess the driver's safety for insurance purposes.

Unlike other insurance Black Boxes, there are no curfews and drivers won't be fined for driving at night. Its purpose is simply to create better, safer drivers.

A spokesman said: "Knowing that your child is new to the road is worrying enough, without having to be concerned over things like vehicle condition and costs.

"We are keen to show parents and younger drivers alike that owning, driving and insuring a car doesn't have to cost the earth.

The offer is available until September 30 on Corsa Limited Edition and Corsa Excite models. Drivers need to have held a driving licence for over a year.

ROONEY

Sallyanne

(nee Carr)

July 9, 1966 - August 23, 2014.

Loving Daughter

Our lives go on without you but nothing is the same, we have to hide our heartache when someone speaks your name.

Sad are the hearts that love you, silent the tears that fall but living our lives without you, is the hardest part of all.

You did so many things for us, your heart was true and tender, you simply lived for those you loved and those you loved remember.

Sweet is the sleep that ends all pain, we would not wake you to suffer again.

Heartbroken Parents,

Des and Cath.

XXXXXX

Our beautiful and precious Sister

In the silence of the morning you heard God's gentle call, with farewells left unspoken, you quietly left us all.

A heart of gold stopped beating, your smiling eyes at rest, God broke our hearts to prove, that He only takes the best.

We will love and miss you always and forever.

XXXXXX

My Special Sister

I constantly think about you, things will never be the same, my tears fall quickly, just hearing your name.

Silence is golden, though not anymore, silence brings thoughts, I just can't ignore.

My nights are sleepless, dreams out of reach, crying in my pillow, 'please don't go' I beseech.

Surrounded by the Family, I still feel alone, my heart is so empty, this pain I must own.

I wish I could hug you and see your beautiful smiling face but now I have memories to stand in your place.

You will never be forgotten as you are forever in my heart.

Sleep tight my Big Sis.

So sad we are now apart.

Love always, Caroline.

XXXXXX

Beloved Sister

Sallyanne, who we love, doesn't go away, she always walks beside us every single day, unseen, unheard but always near, forever loved, missed and so very, very dear.

Rest in peace, free from pain, the most wonderful angel that heaven now will gain.

You will never be forgotten as we love you now and forever

Gayle and Karl.

XXXXXX

Beloved Auntie

I'm sending a dove up to Heaven, with a present on its wings, be careful when you open it, it's full of wonderful things, it's filled with a million kisses, along with a thousand hugs, all tied up with ribbon and sent with all my love.

Love you forever and ever. Christian.

XXXXXX

ROONEY

Sallyanne

There is always a face before us, a voice we would love to hear, a smile we will always remember, of a Mum we love so dear.

Deep in our heart lies a picture, more precious than silver or gold, it's a picture of our Mother, whose memory will never grow old.

Lots of love, Callum, Sean, Lauren and Jack.

ROONEY

Sallyanne

Treasured Sister-in-law and much loved Auntie

To us you were so special, what more is there to say, we only wish with all our hearts that you were here today.

Love always, Angie, Isaac and Tilly.

XXX

ROONEY

Sallyanne

Those we love don't go away, they walk beside us every day, unseen, unheard but always near, still loved, still missed and very dear.

We will love and miss you forever.

God bless sweetheart.

Jackie and Mark.

XXX

ROONEY

Sallyanne

On August 23, 2014.

We have lost a precious Daughter-in-law, we knew we had to part but it doesn't stop the heartache that's deep inside our hearts. So put Your arms around her Lord and give her all our love.

Sleep peacefully until we meet again, God bless you Sallyanne.

Love from Josie and Chris.

NOTICE TO READERS
Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer:
1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with it's Mother.
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree.
Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

Sales Relationship Merchandisers

Do you have an eye for detail, are you self-motivated, enthusiastic and are able to communicate effectively and with confidence.

The Express & Star and Shropshire Star are looking for a team of sales relationship merchandisers to grow audience, strengthen the relationship with retailers, readers and ensure the brand experience is positive.

Working within a busy customer focused environment, the successful applicants will work as part of a team, in designated territories, you will be required to ensure that all our titles are available, in key strategic positions to maximise response and exposure.

Previous sales or merchandising experience in the FMCG market is desirable, but not essential. The ability to react quickly and positively to a wide variety of situations is required. A professional attitude must be displayed at all times. You must have a full current driving licence, transport will be provided.

In return we offer full training and support, an annual salary of £15,000 pro rata, 25 days holiday per year and enrolment into the company pension scheme.

All positions are 20 hours per week worked across 5 days between Monday-Saturday, weekends and Bank Holiday working will be required on a rota basis.

If you would like to be considered for one of these roles please send your CV and covering letter to:

Personnel Department
Midland News Association
Queen Street
Wolverhampton WV1 1ES

Or by e-mail to:

Staffordshire County Council

ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 (AS AMENDED)
ROAD TRAFFIC (TEMPORARY RESTRICTIONS) ACT 1991

A34 WALSALL ROAD, GREAT WYRLEY DIVERSION OF VEHICULAR TRAFFIC

NOTICE is hereby given that the Staffordshire County Council, on 02 September 2014, made an Order the effect of which is to prohibit any vehicle from proceeding in that length of A34 Walsall Road, Great Wyrley so much as passes over and is in the immediate vicinity of the Railway Bridge for a distance of approximately 20 metres either side unless the vehicle is being used in connection with the works; or unless the vehicle requires access to premises on the length of road or is being used for police, fire brigade or ambulance purposes. Pedestrian access will be maintained.

The preferred alternative route for traffic will be available via A460 Eastern Way, A5190 Lichfield Road, A4601 Church Street, A34 Mill Street, A34 Walsall Road and vice versa.

THE ORDER WILL COME INTO OPERATION ON 08 SEPTEMBER 2014, AND THE SAID WORKS WILL COMMENCE ON OR AS NEAR AS PRACTICABLE TO THAT DATE. IT IS ANTICIPATED THAT THE WORKS, WHICH WILL TAKE PLACE NIGHTLY BETWEEN THE HOURS OF 8PM AND 8AM, WILL BE COMPLETED BY 15 SEPTEMBER 2014.

The Order will remain in force for a period of 18 months or until the rail bridge repair works, which it is proposed to carry out on or near the road, have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

TRAFFIC MANAGEMENT ACT 2004

THE STAFFORDSHIRE COUNTY COUNCIL (CANNOCK CHASE) (CIVIL ENFORCEMENT OF PARKING) (PROHIBITION AND RESTRICTION OF WAITING AND LOADING AND PARKING PLACES) (CONVERSION) ORDER 2009 (AMENDMENT) NO. 17/2014

1. Staffordshire County Council on 02 September 2014 made a Traffic Order under Sections 1, 2, 4, 32, 35, 45, 46, 47, 49, 53, 124 (1)(d) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984, and the Traffic Management Act 2004 which:
   (a) prevents you from parking your vehicle between the hours of 8.00 a.m. and 6.00 p.m. for more than 40 minutes with no return within 4 hours on Monday to Saturday inclusive on the following lengths of roads:
   Mill Street, Cannock (south side) – from a point approximately 46 metres south east of the junction with A34 Mill Street in an easterly direction for a distance of approximately 60 metres.
2. Exceptions permit waiting for the purposes of taking up and setting down passengers; loading or unloading goods; for vehicles displaying a Disabled Person's Badge; and where necessary in connection with the maintenance of roads and the supply of gas, electricity, telephones, sewerage services and water and in the service of the Environment Agency; for emergency service vehicles; for vehicles being used for the provision of a universal postal service by a universal service provider; for buses waiting at an authorised bus stop; for vehicles being used for floods defence works or land drainage works; and for so long as is reasonably necessary in connection with any wedding or funeral.
3. This Order amends the Staffordshire County Council (Cannock Chase) (Civil Enforcement of Parking) (Prohibition and Restriction of Waiting and Loading and Parking Places) (Conversion) Order 2009.
4. This Order is called the Staffordshire County Council (Cannock Chase) (Civil Enforcement of Parking) (Prohibition and Restriction of Waiting and Loading and Parking Places) (Conversion) Order 2009 (Amendment) No. 17/2014.
5. This Order amends the Plan marked BI 241 incorporating waiting restrictions on those roads specified in Article No. 1 above and which form part of the Staffordshire County Council (Cannock Chase) (Civil Enforcement of Parking) (Prohibition and Restriction of Waiting and Loading and Parking Places) (Conversion) Order 2009 and in substitution thereof.
6. Full details of the Order, together with a map showing the road involved, may be examined during normal office hours at the office of the Deputy Chief Executive & Director for Place; 1 Staffordshire Place, Tipping Street, Stafford, ST16 2LP and during normal opening hours at Cannock Library, Manor Avenue, Cannock, Staffordshire or via the internet at www.staffordshire.gov.uk/trafficregulationorders.
7. Any person who desires to question the validity of the Order or any provision contained in the Order on the grounds that it is not within the powers of the relevant sections of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 or on the grounds that any requirement of those sections or of Parts I, II, and III of Schedule 9 of the Act or any regulations made under the said Part III of Schedule 9 of the Act has not been complied with in relation to the Order, may, within six weeks of the date on which the Order was made, make an application for the purpose to the High Court.
8. The Order will come into operation on 10 September 2014.

Teacher returns a world champion

England's Natasha Hunt in action on the pitch

WHILE many have spent the school holidays relaxing, a Staffordshire teacher used the six week break to get stuck in and help her country to victory.

PE teacher Natasha Hunt helped England win the Women's Rugby World Cup in Paris.

The 25-year-old, who also plays for Lichfield, is going back to the sports fields at Sir Graham Balfour School in Stafford as a world champion and said the experience was something she has waited her whole life for. Now she can wait to get back for the start of the new term. The scrum half for England said: "My whole life I have been building towards this, it has been incredible, I'm still on cloud nine.

Rugby

"I don't think it has sunk in yet that I have won in the women's world cup."

The team trained together since January for the world cup tournament, which lasted three weeks. Miss Hunt said: "We played every four days, which was a really tight turnaround."

The team also included Lichfield's Emily Scarratt, who scored 16 points from a try, a conversion and three penalties, with her 74th-minute solo touchdown securing world title glory.

The final, against Canada, was played on August 17 in Paris and the trophy was won by England 21-9.

Natasha, from Atherstone, played a crucial role before being substituted in the 77th minute of the game.

"We had lots of friends out there to support us and my parents came out for the whole tour," said Miss Hunt. "My little sister came out to see the final."

Friendly this time goes Cannock's way

Cannock Firsts 38 Handsworth 14

CANNOCK took on Handsworth in a pre-season friendly for the second time – and this time came out victorious.

They had battled hard the first time around but were on the back foot for most of the game thanks to a strong Handsworth performance.

Handsworth had come expecting to win after that promising victory last time, but Cannock have been working hard on their fitness and were up for the battle.

Both teams were in full flow from the off, but a hungry Cannock outfit snuffed out any early inroads from the visitors' attack and it was the hosts that took the lead.

Luke Jordon made some great breaks, releasing the backs, and thanks to great support from Brad Stanaway, skipper Jon Freeman went under the posts for the first score of the game.

For most of the remaining half Cannock were fairly dominant and putting pressure on, but some silly mistakes and missed tackles allowed Handsworth to go over the line and even the scores. Worse was to come when from a lapse in concentration, Handsworth went 14-7 in front. But that was as good as it got for the opposition.

Freeman earned himself a yellow card, but while down to 14 men, Scott Pedley released Gareth Ley. He broke the line, fed Josh Humphreys who put a clever chip through for Watkins to chase and get a hand on the ball for a try. The second half saw some changes for Cannock, trailing 14-12, with Phil Painting coming on in the centres and Ley moving to 10.

Rugby

The hotly-contested game turned in Cannock's favour when Stanaway dived over for his side's third try.

Both teams were reduced to 14 men, Cannock permanently, but Ley cut through the visitors' defence to increase their advantage, and from the restart, Cannock took possession and unleashed Jordon for another try and a 31-14 lead. Humphreys completed the scoring.

Stafford 3rds 12 - Cannock 2nds/3rds 17

Cannock snatched victory over their old sparring partners at Newport Road their final warm up game before the season starts.

A captain's try from Shane Gibbons kicked off the scoring and Alasdair Richards scored a second try under the posts.

Stafford hit back with two tries to level the scores, and with Cannock a player down, they had the chance to win with a kick in front of the posts, but missed, allowing Mayle to score the winning try following a mazy run.

Ravens hoping to fly again as season approaches

The Brereton Ravens Under-10s are hoping to repeat their success in the coming season

BRERETON Town Ravens U10s-football team (soon to become U11s) are looking forward to repeating the success of last season as the new one approaches.

The team won their division in the Lichfield District Recreational League this year. The team, which is just two years old, surprised supporters by scoring a fantastic 58 goals in 12 games. With only eight players in total,playing seven-a-side, they have all showed 100 per cent commitment and trained extremely hard in all weathers.

The players are drawn from four primary schools in Rugeley and the surrounding area, and have become great friends as well as team mates.

The Ravens went to Drayton Manor in May to receive their winners medals and team trophy, which is now proudly displayed at Brereton Town Football Club.

The team have been fortunate to gain sponsorship since last year from Xled a local company.

Xled have proved to be the team's lucky charm and provided a new kit, arranged a visit to Walsall FC as well as supporting a player of the month prize for the team .

The team are just about to start the new season where they will now be playing nine-a-side and have several new players.

Club has enjoyed an ace season

CHESLYN Hay Tennis Club is celebrating a successful season after seven teams competed in a range of leagues throughout Staffordshire.

In the club's debut season in the Staffordshire Inter-Club Doubles League the senior men's team became champions of Division 7 with two games remaining.

With the club competing on many fronts, there was also a mid-table finish in the Walsall League and a first place finish in the Staffordshire AEGON singles and doubles league. This is in addition to fielding junior teams at u-12 and u-14 age groups achieving success at county level.

A club spokesman said despite its successes, the most pleasing aspect of the season was that more than 35 players represented the club in 48 matches. The club continues playing throughout the winter months looking build for the 2015 season.

Cheslyn Hay are always looking for new players of all abilities and ages to join with competitive tennis available at varying levels. Visit www.cheslynhaytennis.weebly.com, call Chris Perrin on 07969 829318 or email cheslynhaytennis@live.com

Villa keep unbeaten run going

Villa 2 Hull 1

ASTON Villa's unbeaten start to the Barclays Premier League season continued as goals from Gabriel Agbonlahor and Andreas Weimann put away Hull at Villa Park.

Villa had to settle for a 2-1 victory but should really have enjoyed a more handsome scoreline, dominating first-half proceedings completely with neat finishes from Agbonlahor and Weimann sandwiched by shots against the woodwork from Fabian Delph and Ashley Westwood.

Hull tightened up after the interval and found a lifeline when Nikica Jelavic's 72nd-minute header was turned home by Villa full-back Aly Cissokho.

Hayes fall to counter attack at the death

Heath Hayes 1
Long Eaton 3

HEATH Hayes put up a good fight against unbeaten Long Eaton. Hayes have played well against the league's top teams with scant reward and the scoreline in this game does not do them justice.

The first half saw a powerful header from Tom Green come back of the bar and Joe Geldart bought a fine save from keeper O'Brian,but was Long Eaton who took the lead when Hayes's usually competent keeper failed to deal with a lob into the box allowing Watkiss to head home

The second half saw Hayes come more into the game when Dave Waple and Andrew Davis were introduced but were again hit on the break when Palmer blasted in on 71 minutes.

Hayes did manage to pull a goal back in the 88th minute when Davis it a screamer from 18 yards.

Steve Taylor's men pushed everyone forward in search for the equaliser but fell to the sucker punch when with all 10 outfield players in the box for a last ditch free kick, the ball was cleared to Watkiss who ran the length of the pitch to plant it in the empty net.

Wood can't cope with hat-trick

Walsall Wood 0
Stafford Rangers 3

A HAT-TRICK from Daniel Cope saw Rangers advance to the next round of the FA Cup after a composed performance at Oak Park.

Rangers took the lead on 13 minutes.

Wood keeper Mario Kisiel was stranded as Alex Curtis flicked the ball past him. It looked to be going in at the far post but Daniel Cope applied the finishing touch to make certain.

Rangers went two ahead on 30 minutes when a cross into the box was headed into the roof of the net by Cope, who completed his hat trick midway through the second half, calmly beating Kisiel from Christian Dacres' pass.

CANNOCK Hockey Club's first team continued their pre-season preparations with two games over the weekend.

On Saturday they travelled to South Eastern Conference side Cambridge and, on the back of a string of pre-season victories confidently brushed them aside 6-2. Captain Marc Edwards led the way with a brace.

The following day Cannock took on Conference side Teddington. Again skipper Edwards was on the score sheet. Last season's player of the year Pete Jackson converted two penalty corners and the returning Dave Harris also scored a couple as Cannock ran out comfortable 6-0 winners.

A very young and inexperienced Cannock 2nds side played two games at Birmingham University on Saturday. In their first game they drew 1-1 with Midlands Premier side Khalsa. Their second game resulted in a narrow 3-2 defeat to Midlands Premier side Bournville.

This weekend the remainder of the club start their season with an England Hockey's Harvester Club Day starting at 9am with games all day and a barbecue.

The first team take on Bowdon in a friendly.

Slade take 13-0 hammering, by George!

EARLY league leaders Hawkins Sports made it three wins from three, this time beating Belt Road 5-0. Kieron Northwood scored two goals and there was one each for Ryan Bradshaw, Mark Waple and man of the match Ash Perry.

Second placed Huntington beat Dynamo Lamb 3-1 with goals coming from Matty Dickens, Matty Allport and Ricky Clifton. Both Rugeley Utd and Harrisons got their first points of the season by playing out a 2-2 draw. Brereton Town won their first game beating CK77 2-1.

Division One leaders Chase Spartans beat Colliers Arms 6-3. Crystal Fountain played and won their first game of the season beating Bar Sport 3-1and even missed a penalty.

Lea Hall scored six goals in the first 20 minutes to go on and beat nine-man Talbot 7-5. Man of the match Dave Love scored a hat-trick and Ryan Carter bagged two. Nelson Inn beat Wyrley Juniors 5-2 to go second. James Kent and Man of the Match Jack Jones got two goals each with one from Paul Harvey. Victoria played their first game of the season thrashing Wheatsheaf 7-2. Jimmy Hemmings scored a hat-trick and man of the match Steve Cook scored two.

In Division Two, Bridgtown Social made it five wins on the trot to top the table, beating Hawkins Inex 4-0.

King George go second by thrashing Slade 13-0 to make it 30 goals in four games. Ben Scragg scored two, but brother Jimmy Scragg went one better. Kevin Humpage and Ash Thomas also bagged two.

Jubilee beat Bell & Bottle 5-3 scoring all their goals in the first half, a Darnell Cummings hat-trick among them. AFC Victoria won their first game beating Brinsford 5-4, Cheslyn Hay beat Winding Wheel 3-1 and Bow Street beat AFC Social 4-1.

Trafalgar needed a last minute Levi Hodgkiss penalty to beat the Hen House 3-2. Jay Webster scored twice.

Glassworks lead the Division Three table after a 2-0 win over The Bridge. Second placed Piper beat Cannock Rangers 5-3. Pear Tree beat Movecorp 6-2.

Darlaston Green put eight past Romping Cat with Isaac Cooper notching four.

White Lion beat Essington 3-1.

Chasetown 2 Newcastle Town 1

CHASETOWN came from behind to earn a tie at Rugby Town on Saturday 13th September.

It was down to some heroic defending that the Scholars even gave themselves a chance of still being in the competition at all, as goalkeeper John Bateman made a succession of first half saves that could have seen the visitors 4-0 up at the break.

However, half-time was only 1-0 to the visitors and that came in the 27th minute following Bateman making a great save from Neville Thompson but he was unable to keep out the rebound form Ben Mills.

Bateman made another good save at the start of the second period and Chasetown's game lifted as a result.

In the 52nd minute, Simon Brown's corner was neatly headed home at the near post by Nathan Waite.

The home side were now dominant and a Todd Evans cross fell invitingly to Lee Downes who smashed a first time volley into the roof of the net leaving Adam Alcock no chance.

Newcastle had one golden chance to equalise when Bateman saved from Jordan Cole and the follow up shot from Mills was superbly cleared off the line by Evans.

Newcastle Town 1
Chasetown 1

The Scholars had the early territorial advantage but it was the home side that had the only real shot on target in the opening few minutes – an effort by 'castle skipper Tim Sanders straight down the throat of Chasetown keeper John Bateman.

Football

Just before the break, Newcastle had a great opportunity to take the lead. Ben Mills bore down on goal with just John Bateman to beat, but Jermaine Johnson flew in with a last-ditch tackle before the home striker could shoot.

After the interval, Chasetown got the ball down well and started to dominate again.

A replay was looking the most likely result throughout the second period until Waite outmuscled his marker and slipped a neat through ball to Nick Wellecomme, who calmly slid the ball beyond Alcock to give Chasetown a 76th-minute lead. It was all or nothing for the hosts, and for a five-minute spell they created a few quick chances.

Firstly, Bateman kicked away an effort from Matt Lowe, and then pushed aside efforts from Ben Mills and captain Tim Sanders.

It was no surprise when Newcastle did find a way through. Quick passing left Neville Thompson inside the penalty area and he left Bateman no chance.

Stockport to visit for league day

STOCKPORT County will visit Keys Park on Saturday as part of celebrating Non League Day across the country.

Pitmen boss Rob Smith said: "Stockport are a huge club and have had a very good start to the season. It's a great fixture for anyone but with it being Non League Day, at home on a Saturday, the occasion is even bigger and one we are really looking forward to."

Supporters are encouraged to get their Saturday afternoon fix at Keys Park with a bumper attendance expected.

Entrance starts from £12 Adults, £7 Concessions with a family ticket priced at just £24 for two adults and two children.

Hunter get their prey Darlaston

Sikh Hunter 2
Darlaston Town (1874) 0

COLIN Smith was impressive for the home side as was centre forward Ashley Thorpe who kept debutant centre half Sean Westley busy all afternoon.

With the wind at their backs in the second half the home side were more dominant as the Darlaston midfield and defence allowed Woodyatt and Emmanuel Antwi the time and space to dictate the game. Hunter were playing some impressive football and they finally broke the deadlock on 60 minutes. Antwi's deflected shot evading Walker's grasp.

The game was settled in the 78th minute when Colin Smith made no mistake.

Willenhall 0 Bridgnorth 85

BRIDGNORTH'S third warm-up friendly match of the season proved a bit too warm for the Staffordshire side.

Played in the usual four quarters saw Bridgnorth, with three County players injured on the touchline, dominate play from the onset scoring,19, 21, 19 and 26 points in each quarter, all to no reply from the home side.

The new front row starting line of Ed John, Dan Griffiths and Ash Bithell dominated set play and with Darren Brick, Ben Rochelle and Ryan Arnell dominating the airspace, the quick thinking partnership of Gareth Bladen and Dave Hadkiss had plenty of good possession for Jimmy Gore and Warren Harding to show their skills.

Almost from the kick off a huge forward drive caught Willenhall unawares for Stuart Plant to score and Will Biddell to add the points.

Sam Alvey, proved far too fast for Willenhall's on his 75-yard run. Giving Biddell the simplest of kicks.

Bridgnorth gave a brilliant display. It was a really stunning performance from the whole Bridgnorth team but for sheer talent the Man of the Match award went to Warren Harding.

Late goal sees points shared

Willenhall Town 1
Malvern Town 1

THE Lockmen were denied maximum points by a late equaliser.

After a quiet start the Reds had the first serious chance on 17 minutes when Ryan Ward robbed the keeper and pulled the ball back for Craig Sudlow who fired wide.

Ward then broke through on goal but was robbed of possession. Malvern thought they had taken the lead on the half hour mark but it was disallowed.

Burntwood face tough tie in cup opener

Rugby

AFTER a tough month of pre-season friendly fixtures, Burntwood Rugby Club open the new rugby campaign with a Staffordshire Senior Cup tie away to Tamworth this Saturday.

With Leek, Lichfield and Longton not entering the county cup competition and Willenhall opting to enter the Staffs Intermediate Cup, Burntwood find themselves in the Senior Cup as the lowest ranked team so it will be a demanding start as they seek progress to the next round of the competition.

However, the squad has already faced Old Saltleians and Stafford, both in Tamworth's league, in pre-season warm-up games plus hosting a President's Invitation side and then rounding things off with a trip to Haringey Rhinos in North London before the real action begins with a full weekend of fixtures.

The Midlands 3 West North league season also starts with an away fixture with a visit to Uttoxeter on September13 before Burntwood welcome Wednesbury to The Sportsway on the 20th. There are few changes to the committee and captains for the new season.

Ian Jones continues as 1st XV skipper but the club will have a new Club Captain in Matt Sishton in their corner which will bring some new thinking into the arena.

There has been some player comings and goings withHal Gozukucuk and Corey Douglas having returned to the fold to add to recruits from Tewkesbury and Tamworth.

The players who will be moving out include Jack Neal and Thomas Cooper to Burton and Danny Poole who has gone to Bournville.

Besides the M3WN fixtures, Burntwood will have two sides in the Staffordshire Merit Tables and will also be fielding a colts side for the first time in several seasons and they will play in the North Midlands Colts League.

New and returning players and supporters are always welcome to The Sportsway.

For further details about club fixtures and functions either visit the club, which is open every weekday from 4pm and weekends all day, or call 01543 676651.

UNBEATEN RUN NOW FYLDE AWAY

AFC Fylde 3 Hednesford Town 1

HEDNESFORD Town's three game unbeaten run came to an abrupt end at AFC Fylde on Saturday afternoon, writes Scott Smith.

The Pitmen suffered their first ever defeat against the Lancashire based side.

Former West Bromwich Albion man James Hurst made his debut following his return from an injury which had been picked up in pre-season.

This saw Dominc Dell dropping down to the substitutes bench with Hednesford making just the one change from the side which had defeated Solihull Moors on Bank Holiday Monday.

New signing Malcolm Melvin was also named amongst those on the bench following his switch to Town on Friday afternoon.

The first half was an even one and neither goalkeeper was really tested in the opening half an hour.

Inconspicuous

But in the 37th minute the home side took the lead. An inconspicuous looking cross into the Town box was flicked on by Danny Rowe and his looping header found the corner of the net to give Fylde the advantage.

Just when it looked as if Hednesford would go into the break a goal down they managed to muster up an equaliser as the clock ticked onto 45 minutes.

A corner from the left wasn't cleared properly and Francino Francis' ball back into the box found Tom Peers who managed to squeeze his shot home into the far corner.

Football

The second half would very much belonged to the home side and they re-took the lead in the 57th minute. Richie Allen broke forward and his ball into the box found Michael Potts who had all the time he wanted to role his effort underneath Dan Crane and into the net.

Ten minutes later the lively Allen got on the end of a corner and drilled his effort just over. He wouldn't be denied though as in the 75th minute all three points were pretty much secured for the home side. A wayward ball from Jamey Osborne left Allen one-on-one with Crane and he was able to round the goalkeeper and slide the ball into the empty net.

Hednesford will now regroup ahead of Stockport County's visit to Keys Park on Saturday, Non-League Day. Kick off is at 3pm.

AFC Fylde: Hinchliffe, Hughes, Sumner, Langley, Hannigan, B Barnes, Tomsett, Potts (Hankin 84), Rowe, M Barnes (Lloyd 80), Allen; Subs not used: Booth, Charles, Dootson

Hednesford Town: Crane, Ashmore (Dell 58), Campion, Bailey, Francis, Taylor (Malcolm 58), Osborne, Melbourne, Glover, Hurst, Peers (Robinson 74); Subs not used: Macpherson, Price

No-show Pawlicki sacked

WOLVES owner Chris Van Straaten predicted Piotr Pawlicki would be a future world champion – just a day after cancelling his contract.

Van Straaten axed the Pole on Monday "with a heavy heart" over the latest in a string of non-appearances, yet admires his talent and described him as " a nice lad".

But the 19-year-old's no-show for Monday night's match against Leicester – messages were sent in the morning to say he would not be there – was the final straw for Van Straaten.

"Enough is enough," he said after delivering the blow.

"It's just not fair on the team, the promotion and most importantly the supporters."

And the Wolves chief will now be ultra-cautious before taking on another young Polish ace, pointing to the pressure they are under at home.

"I would certainly have to think long and hard about an Under-21 rider," he said. "They are so important to their Polish Elite League clubs.

"I firmly believe there is a lot of pressure on them."

Albion cut their cup tickets cost

ALBION have cut prices for their Capital One Cup third-round clash against Hull at The Hawthorns later this month.

Tickets are now on sale to season ticket holders and members, priced £10 except under-17s, who will pay £5.

These prices apply to tickets bought before the September 24 match.
